Officers Pick Site For Talk Resumption

Place Is Southeast of Kaesong—No Date Is Set for Parley

Munsan, Korea, Oct. 10 (AP)—Liaison officers today picked a site near Panmunjom for resuming Korean truce talks.

The spot is six air miles southeast of Kaesong where cease-fire negotiations first began three months ago today. The talks were broken off by the Reds Aug. 23.

Another meeting of allied and Red liaison officers at Panmunjom was scheduled for 10 a. m. tomorrow (8 p. m. Wednesday EST).

There was no immediate announcement of when the armistice delegations would re-open their talks—or even whether the time had been set.

Preparations for a meeting of the full delegations were pressed rapidly. The United Nations truce team assembled in Korea. Allied service personnel went to Kaesong to move equipment left there to the new site.

Resumption Expected

Everything indicated the UN command expected an early resumption of full-scale efforts to end the shooting in Korea.

Wednesday's burst of activity started with Communist acceptance of Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's proposal that liaison officers meet at Panmunjom to arrange for renewal of negotiations.

The Reds' note of acceptance was delivered at 8 a. m. at Panmunjon. Two hours later six liaison officers began their conference.

They met for two hours and 25 minutes. In that time they walked

Yanks Score First In 6th of Series

Coleman Scores After Mays' Catch of High Fly

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—Cloudy, chill weather gave the World Series a football air today as the clubs returned to Yankee Stadium with the New York Yankees needing only one more win to nail down their 14th baseball championship.

Leading 3-2 in their best of-seven series, Yankee Vic Raschi (21-10) went after the clincher. He was opposed by lefty Dave Koslo (10-9), Manager Leo Durocher's back-to-the-wall choice.

The mercury bobbed in the low 50s when the Yanks came out to start batting practice.

Photographers looking for early action posed Gil McDougald, yesterday's home run hero, and Hank Bauer huddling in blankets on the Yankee bench. It was cold enough for blankets in the grand stand, populated by only a handful of hardy early birds.

Hot dogs and coffee salesmen were doing a booming business in the spacious bleachers. Less than half of the 14,500 seats at $1 each were filled two hours before game time.

Rain Is Predicted

With the weatherman predicting more cool weather tomorrow with afternoon rain, the Yanks were doubly anxious to polish off the Giants in the sixth game and retire to a winter of counting their money.

It will be a nice pile of money, too, if they win. If the unofficial estimates are right on 36 Yank shares, each full share will mean $6,539.89. The $6,772.05 the Cleveland Indians took home for beating the Boston Braves in 1948 is the record.

The Series already was a howling financial success, if not so pretty artistically. A total of 280,266 fans paid $1,329,531.37 for the first five games, not counting a $1,000,000 plus from television and radio. Today's receipts will add another $300,000.

Stengel came up with his sixth batting order for game No. 6 by moving Phil Rizzuto into the leadoff spot and following with Gerry Coleman. With a lefty going for the Giants, Bobby Brown went to the bench, Coleman played second base and Gil McDougald moved to third.

Johnny Mize stayed on first base. Gene Woodling, another lefty batter, remained in left field and Yogi Berra, of course, was the catcher. So Koslo had three lefthanders to work on.

Durocher also changed his order after yesterday's 13-1 slaughter. He moved Whitey Lockman from fifth to third, changing places with Bobby Thomson. Hank Thompson, a lefthanded batter, returned to right field and batted sixth.

Starting Lineups

YANKS — Rizzuto, ss (.333); Coleman, 2b (.250); Berra, c (.211); DiMaggio, cf (.238); McDougald, 3b (.316); Mize, 1b (.200); Bauer, rf (.133); Woodling, lf (.200); Raschi, p (0-1).

UN Records Cause New Contorversy In Jessup Situation

Ambassador Was Not at White House on 1949 Date, Is Austin Report

Washington, Oct. 10 (AP)—United Nations records placing Ambassador Philip C. Jessup in New York Feb. 5, 1949—instead of at a White House conference as Harold E. Stassen has contended—stirred fresh controversy in Congress today.

The dispute over President Truman's nomination of Jessup as a UN delegate was sparked anew by a message to the State Department that Jessup was some 225 miles from Washington at the precise hour of the conference here.

The message came from Warren R. Austin, chief U. S. delegate to the UN, and the department made it public last night. Stassen, in Philadelphia, could not be reached for comment.

Jessup's whereabouts the day of the 1949 White House meeting have become a point of sharp conflict at a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee's hearings on his nomination.

Told, He Says, by Senator

Stassen, former Republican governor of Minnesota and now president of the University of Pennsylvania, has testified under oath he was told by the late Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, Michigan Republican, that Jessup attended the meeting. Jessup has sworn he did not.

Stassen said Vandenberg told him Jessup and Secretary of State Acheson proposed at the conference that U. S. military aid to Nationalist China be halted.

An excerpt from Vandenberg's diary, made public over the weekend, confirms that Vandenberg was present and that such a proposal was discussed. The diary

All divisions in the campaign have now been organized and final solicitation will start Friday morning. Report meetings will be held at the auditorium the evenings of October 16, 19, 25 with the final report dinner coming Tuesday, October 30.

The special gifts division, under the chairmanship of Roger Loughran, has been in the field for the last three weeks and will make its first report meeting at the kickoff dinner tomorrow night.

Assisting Loughran are James H. Betts, L. A. Quilty, L. J. MacAvery, William O'Reilly and E. F. Flanagan as majors. Teams captains in the special gifts division are Phillip McDonald, William Kelly, John McManus, Robert Ortale, George W. Moore, F. J. O'Neil, James Abernethy, Harry Gold, William Gaffken, Charles Gaffney, A. Kurdt, A. Murphy, Morgan Ryan, Fred Carpenter, B. S. Kramer, George Schneider, H. Eaton, A. Kaplan, Murray Green and C. W. Corell.

Allen Baker and Joe Epstein are in charge of the clubs and organizations division which has also started to work along with the hospital service area group under the direction of Luther Dusinberre, who has organized 19 townships in Ulster county and solicitation has started in several.

Ernest Steuding is the chairman of the public employes division and has divided this group into schools, county, state, city and country. Each group is handling its own solicitation.

Joe Honig has a group of 12 industrialists aiding him in the industrial division which is also under way. Solicitation has started in 102 plans and this division will make its first report October 16.

Jerry Martin is in charge of the commercial division and his workers will start calling on commercial houses and their employes the first thing Friday morning.

The big division of the campaign, the residential, is in charge of Mrs. Vincent Connelly and Andrew Gilday. The latter has the downtown wards and Mrs. Connelly is in charge of the uptown section. Each are appointing ward chairmen, who in turn are enlisting five or six captains each to take over the house to house calling.

Judge George Kaufman will be the main speaker at the kickoff dinner tomorrow night with short talks made by the two general co-chairmen, Senator Arthur H. Wicks and James A. Dwyer. Roger Loughran will serve as toastmaster.

Workers in all divisions are expected to attend the dinner where they will receive their final instructions and cards.

Wild Crowd Hits West's Businesses

Cairo Mob Demonstrates as Rest of Arabian World Joins Premier's Denunciation

Police Take Action

Reinforcements Split Rioters — Bills Are Approved

Cairo, Egypt, Oct. 10 (AP) — A wild crowd armed with stones and clubs, surged through the downtown streets of Cairo today, attacking western business houses in a frenze of anti-foreign rioting.

The outbreak sprang from Prime Minister Mustapha El Nahas Pasha's denunciation of the Anglo-Egyptian treaty and his bid to chase all British troops off Egyptian soil.

The rest of the Arab world meanwhile joined Egypt in full support behind his plans to drive Britain out of its Suez Canal encampments and the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan.

A British and a French firm and the trucks of Coca-Cola and Pepsi-Cola distributors were first targets for attack by shouting mobs.

They also stoned and attempted to storm the big immobilia buildings in the heart of Cairo. The two buildings, constructed around an open court, house a number of American and British business offices.

"Down with Britain, up with Egypt," the rioters shouted.

Rushed to Scene

Police reinforcements rushed to the scene of the riots and had some difficulty dispersing the crowds. The mobs broke up into small groups and went off shouting for cancellation of the Anglo-Egyptian alliance.

Steel-helmeted police, wielding clubs, patrolled the main Cairo streets. Shopkeepers hurriedly lowered their shutters.

The Arab League last night promised "unqualified support" to Egypt in her struggle with the British.

Legislation Speeded

Legislation to cancel the 1899 and 1936 treaties with Britain was being speeded through the Egyptian Parliament. A Senate committee last night unanimously approved the government bills abrogating the 20-year mutual defense alliance of 1936 and the older accord setting up joint Anglo-Egyptian rule of the Sudan.

The Egyptians want sole control of the cotton-growing Sudan, which adjoins Egypt to the south. This one question has been the stumbling block to agreement on revision of the 1936 pact through five years of negotiation.

The number of British soldiers in Egypt has not been officially announced.

Can Keep 10,000

The 1936 treaty permits Britain to keep up to 10,000 soldiers and an air force of 400 planes in the Suez Canal area. Egypt has charged the British forces exceed these numbers.

Opposition leaders warned the government against accepting the proposed Middle East Defense Command, Britain's hope of solving the tense situation.

The proposal was approved by the recent meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) at Ottawa. Britain had promised to submit a draft plan to Egypt quickly.

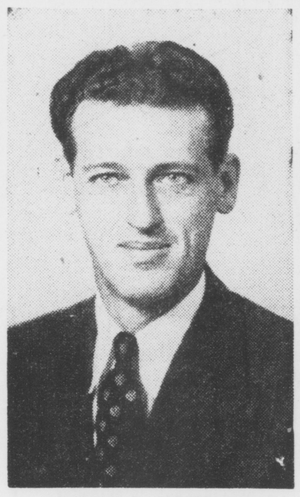
Under this plan, defense of the canal would be shared by many nations, including Egypt, other Middle East countries, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa, as well as Britain, France, the United States, and Turkey.

Says They Are 'Sick'

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—A union spokesman says more than 1,000 city sanitation department workers will not report for work today because of "sickness." The remedy prescribed by the union is the granting of a 40-hour, five-day work week. Sanitation Commissioner Andrew W. Mulrain has issued an order, effective this morning, for the immediate suspension of any one found feigning illness.

Gus Hall Is Turned Over to FBI On International Bridge in Texas

Labor Endorses Newkirk and Kelly



OSCAR V. NEWKIRK

JOSEPH KELLY

Comment Is Refused on Arrest—Newsman Says He Saw Transfer

Laredo, Tex., Oct. 10 (AP)—Gus Hall, one of four top U. S. Communist bail jumpers, was turned over to the FBI in the darkness at 3 a. m. today on the international bridge that connects the United States and Mexico.

A Laredo newsman, Tom Green of the Laredo Times, said he watched five men in a car with Mexican license plates drive across the bridge here. He said one of the men appeared to be Hall and the rest "appeared to be Mexican officers."

In Washington FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover announced that hall had been arrested.

FBI agents in Laredo and local police refused to comment on the arrest or on Hoover's announcement. Hoover said that Hall, national secretary of the Communist party would be sent to jail at once but didn't say where.

One of Four Tops

Hall was one of four top U. S. Communists who jumped bail after conviction of conspiring to teach and advocate the violent overthrow of the government.

Green said Hall was not handcuffed; that he was wearing a brown suit, grey hat and carrying a brown topcoat. He said the four men in the car unloaded some luggage for Hall.

The reporter said a car with a U. S. license plates was parked near the immigration office, and that FBI men who met the Mexican vehicle appeared to "have plans to leave with Hall."

Green said FBI men "were all over the place prior and during the meeting" at the U. S. Immigration office.

He said a blonde haired man preceded the car across the bridge by about 20 minutes, appeared to signal waiting FBI men, then disappeared.

Officer Is Quoted

Green quoted an immigration officer as saying it was the same man involved when Morton Sobell, 34, was returned to the U. S. after being arrested in Mexico. Sobell, a radar expert, was convicted last spring of wartime espionage. He is now appealing a 30-year federal prison sentence.

Hall and ten other top Communist party leaders in the United States were given prison sentences after their conviction of violating the Smith Act, which makes it a federal crime to teach or advocate the overthrow of the government by force or violence.

Seven are now serving their terms. Robert Thompson, Gilbert Green and Henry Winston are still at large.

The arrest was announced only a few hours after the Mexican Communist party said Hall had been captured last night in Mexico.

But the FBI said the arrest took place "today," and in the Texas town.

Search Gets Underway

An international search got underway for Hall, who is 41 years old, and his three bail-jumping fellow-Communists early in July as soon as they failed to show up to serve their prison terms.

Of the three still at large, Thompson has been sentenced to three years in jail, Winston and

Britain Attempts To Get Agreement

Council Session Put Off at Request of Iran for Premier

United Nations, Oct. 10 (AP)—Britain kept trying today to get behind-the-scenes agreement for UN Security Council action in the Iranian oil dispute. But the ailments of Iran's aged premier, secluded in a New York hospital, appeared to have blocked any council debate this week.

A council meeting scheduled for tomorrow was postponed, UN sources said, after the Iranians "indicated" they would appreciate the delay because of Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's condition.

Next Monday was seen as a likely date for the meeting.

Britain last week demanded that the council ask Iran to hold up on its nationalization program shutting the billion dollar Anglo-Iranian Oil Company out of Iran. With grumbling British agreement, the council delayed action until Mossadegh could come from Iran to present his country's side of the dispute which has idled the giant oil industry.

'Severe Exhaustion'

Mossadegh, who led the nationalization fight, arrived Monday and promptly entered New York Hospital, suffering from what doctors described as severe exhaustion.

Iranian Deputy Premier Hossein Fatemi told a news conference last night that Iran is willing to talk with the British again about the oil question, but that Iran opposes Security Council intervention in what it considers a domestic matter. He also expressed opposition to any move to have the council name a neutral umpire.

Another British source said a new British resolution for the council was shaping up along a middle course favored by the United States. With U. S. delegation approval of the draft, he said, talks with other Security Council members were expected to last throughout today.

The British hope to get something satisfactory to at least seven council members, and something that will not draw a Russian veto. The Russians have contended, with the Iranians, that the Security Council has no business intervening.

Increase Is Given

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—Bronx apartment house service workers, who went on strike for three days last week, have received a $5 to $10 monthly pay boost. Borough President James J. Lyons disclosed yesterday the terms of a three-year agreement reached last Friday between the Bronx Realty Advisory Board, the landlord's group, and a local of the AFL Building Service Workers International Union. Full-time employes will get the $10, part-time employes $5. The pay increases are retroactive to Sept. 15.

State to Request More Steel For Construction of Schools

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—The New York State Commission on School Buildings has voted to ask the National Production Authority for more steel for school construction.

Also, the commission has urged local construction during the current emergency.

The actions were voted yesterday as the commission was told that the school construction in the state soon will decline to a "calamitous stage" if the federal government sticks to its present steel allocation policies.

This statement came from Don L. Essex, director of the school buildings and grounds division of the State Department of Education.

Essex told the commission that the federal government is giving 33 per cent more steel to automobile manufacturers than to school building.

"It does not seem," Essex said, "that schools are getting anything like a fair deal in the amount of steel allocated."

He said New York state asked for 13,746 tons of steel for the fourth quarter of 1951, but got only 5,454 tons.

Essex said the state requested 20,873 tons for the first quarter of 1952, but thus far the National Production Authority has released only 2,362 tons.

Here's the way he summed up the situation:

"Construction has been slowed down already. If the same policy is carried forward to the first quarter of 1952, a calamitous stage will be reached. It would completely stop construction in a large number of communities."

New York state, Essex said, cur-

Tanks Give Big Support To Infantry

Chinese Are Scattered in 'All Directions' by Drive—Two American Planes Lost

Hopes It's End

Van Fleet Anticipates Finish of Fight for Ridge

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, Oct. 10 (AP)—Fifty American tanks led thousands of U. S. infantrymen on a surprise attack today that smashed eight miles through Chinese lines in eastern Korea.

Gen. James A. Van Fleet, in a surprise visit to the front, expressed hope the raid "will be the end of the Heartbreak Ridge fighting."

Green Chinese troops turned and ran in the face of the armored thrust.

The surprise drive carried the raiding Americans past the village of Mundung, 23 miles north of the 38th Parallel and two miles west of Heartbreak Ridge.

The raiders sent the Chinese "running in all directions."

In the air American jet pilots reported they probably shot down two Russian-type MIG-15 jets in a clash between 32 Thunderjets and 25 Reds.

Two American planes were lost in other actions. An F-4-U fighter was shot down by ground fire. A Shooting Star jet crashed in a strafing run.

Counterattacks Fought

On the ground Americans fought fierce 1,000 man Red counterattacks and hacked out small gains of their own in two sectors. One U. S. unit was pushed back slightly in the east.

The tank-infantry task force returned to its own lines by nightfall after slashing up a valley alongside Heartbreak Ridge. It caught green Chinese troops by surprise as the Reds moved into the front to relieve North Koreans.

The tanks rumbled up a river bed trail prepared in advance by American engineers. A full regiment of infantrymen—about 3,750 men and officers—flanked the tanks.

A smaller Second Division tank-infantry force shot up Heartbreak Ridge bunkers from Satae Valley east of the ridge.

Resistance Is Fierce

U. S. Second Division infantrymen on the ridges ran into fierce resistance to the east, but captured two hills west of the valley. A counterattack by 1,000 Chinese forced the 38th Regiment to withdraw from one mountain on Kim Il Sung Ridge near Heartbreak.

Attacking units of the Red regiment were stopped cold on a small ridgeline west of the northern tip of Heartbreak.

The UN command announced U. S. First Division cavalrymen beat back a 1,000-man Red counterattack northwest of Yonchon and scored small gains of their own.

B-29 Superforts blasted two airfields at Pyongyang, the Korean Red capital, with 130,000 pounds of high explosives in the continuing campaign to keep Communists from basing their growing air forces in Korea.

Southwest Gets Heat

(By The Associated Press)

It looked like a pleasant autumn day for most of the nation today but the far southwest was still having a heat wave. Fair skies were forecast for nearly the entire country during the day. There was ground fog early today in parts of Kentucky and Tennessee northward to the upper Missippi valley and the lower Great Lakes region. The only rain was along the North Carolina coast and the southern tip of Florida. Warmest weather was west of the Mississippi river. Readings yesterday generally were in the 70's and 80's and near 100 in many places in the far southwest. Cool spots early today included Cadillac, Mich., with a low of 20 and Grand Marais, Mich., 23.

Each are appointing ward chairmen, who in turn are enlisting five or six captains each to take over the house to house calling.

Judge George Kaufman will be the main speaker at the kickoff dinner tomorrow night with short talks made by the two general co-chairmen, Senator Arthur H. Wicks and James A. Dwyer. Roger Loughran will serve as toastmaster.

Workers in all divisions are expected to attend the dinner where they will receive their final instructions and cards.

Wild Crowd Hits West's Businesses

Cairo Mob Demonstrates as Rest of Arabian World Joins Premier's Denunciation

Police Take Action

Reinforcements Split Rioters — Bills Are Approved

Cairo, Egypt, Oct. 10 (AP) — A wild crowd armed with stones and clubs, surged through the downtown streets of Cairo today, attacking western business houses in a frenze of anti-foreign rioting.

The outbreak sprang from Prime Minister Mustapha El Nahas Pasha's denunciation of the Anglo-Egyptian treaty and his bid to chase all British troops off Egyptian soil.

The rest of the Arab world meanwhile joined Egypt in full support behind his plans to drive Britain out of its Suez Canal encampments and the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan.

A British and a French firm and the trucks of Coca-Cola and Pepsi-Cola distributors were first targets for attack by shouting mobs.

They also stoned and attempted to storm the big immobilia buildings in the heart of Cairo. The two buildings, constructed around an open court, house a number of American and British business offices.

"Down with Britain, up with Egypt," the rioters shouted.

Rushed to Scene

Police reinforcements rushed to the scene of the riots and had some difficulty dispersing the crowds. The mobs broke up into small groups and went off shouting for cancellation of the Anglo-Egyptian alliance.

Steel-helmeted police, wielding clubs, patrolled the main Cairo streets. Shopkeepers hurriedly lowered their shutters.

The Arab League last night promised "unqualified support" to Egypt in her struggle with the British.

Legislation Speeded

Legislation to cancel the 1899 and 1936 treaties with Britain was being speeded through the Egyptian Parliament. A Senate committee last night unanimously approved the government bills abrogating the 20-year mutual defense alliance of 1936 and the older accord setting up joint Anglo-Egyptian rule of the Sudan.

The Egyptians want sole control of the cotton-growing Sudan, which adjoins Egypt to the south. This one question has been the stumbling block to agreement on revision of the 1936 pact through five years of negotiation.

The number of British soldiers in Egypt has not been officially announced.

Can Keep 10,000

The 1936 treaty permits Britain to keep up to 10,000 soldiers and an air force of 400 planes in the Suez Canal area. Egypt has charged the British forces exceed these numbers.

Opposition leaders warned the government against accepting the proposed Middle East Defense Command, Britain's hope of solving the tense situation.

The proposal was approved by the recent meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) at Ottawa. Britain had promised to submit a draft plan to Egypt quickly.

Under this plan, defense of the canal would be shared by many nations, including Egypt, other Middle East countries, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa, as well as Britain, France, the United States, and Turkey.

Says They Are 'Sick'

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—A union spokesman says more than 1,000 city sanitation department workers will not report for work today because of "sickness." The remedy prescribed by the union is the granting of a 40-hour, five-day work week. Sanitation Commissioner Andrew W. Mulrain has issued an order, effective this morning, for the immediate suspension of any one found feigning illness.

Gus Hall Is Turned Over to FBI On International Bridge in Texas

Comment Is Refused on Arrest—Newsman Says He Saw Transfer

Laredo, Tex., Oct. 10 (AP)—Gus Hall, one of four top U. S. Communist bail jumpers, was turned over to the FBI in the darkness at 3 a. m. today on the international bridge that connects the United States and Mexico.

A Laredo newsman, Tom Green of the Laredo Times, said he watched five men in a car with Mexican license plates drive across the bridge here. He said one of the men appeared to be Hall and the rest "appeared to be Mexican officers."

In Washington FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover announced that hall had been arrested.

FBI agents in Laredo and local police refused to comment on the arrest or on Hoover's announcement. Hoover said that Hall, national secretary of the Communist party would be sent to jail at once but didn't say where.

One of Four Tops

Hall was one of four top U. S. Communists who jumped bail after conviction of conspiring to teach and advocate the violent overthrow of the government.

Green said Hall was not handcuffed; that he was wearing a brown suit, grey hat and carrying a brown topcoat. He said the four men in the car unloaded some luggage for Hall.

The reporter said a car with a U. S. license plates was parked near the immigration office, and that FBI men who met the Mexican vehicle appeared to "have plans to leave with Hall."

Green said FBI men "were all over the place prior and during the meeting" at the U. S. Immigration office.

He said a blonde haired man preceded the car across the bridge by about 20 minutes, appeared to signal waiting FBI men, then disappeared.

Officer Is Quoted

Green quoted an immigration officer as saying it was the same man involved when Morton Sobell, 34, was returned to the U. S. after being arrested in Mexico. Sobell, a radar expert, was convicted last spring of wartime espionage. He is now appealing a 30-year federal prison sentence.

Hall and ten other top Communist party leaders in the United States were given prison sentences after their conviction of violating the Smith Act, which makes it a federal crime to teach or advocate the overthrow of the government by force or violence.

Seven are now serving their terms. Robert Thompson, Gilbert Green and Henry Winston are still at large.

The arrest was announced only a few hours after the Mexican Communist party said Hall had been captured last night in Mexico.

But the FBI said the arrest took place "today," and in the Texas town.

Search Gets Underway

An international search got underway for Hall, who is 41 years old, and his three bail-jumping fellow-Communists early in July as soon as they failed to show up to serve their prison terms.

Of the three still at large, Thompson has been sentenced to three years in jail, Winston and

Building Trades Group Passes Resolution at Meeting of Group

Ulster and Sullivan Counties Building and Construction Trades Council, A.F. of L., at a meeting held last night adopted a resolution endorsing Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk and Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly for re-election to office this fall.

The Trades Council represents the 19 unions affiliated with the building and construction trades in this area.

Britain Attempts To Get Agreement

Council Session Put Off at Request of Iran for Premier

United Nations, Oct. 10 (AP)—Britain kept trying today to get behind-the-scenes agreement for UN Security Council action in the Iranian oil dispute. But the ailments of Iran's aged premier, secluded in a New York hospital, appeared to have blocked any council debate this week.

A council meeting scheduled for tomorrow was postponed, UN sources said, after the Iranians "indicated" they would appreciate the delay because of Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's condition.

Next Monday was seen as a likely date for the meeting.

Britain last week demanded that the council ask Iran to hold up on its nationalization program shutting the billion dollar Anglo-Iranian Oil Company out of Iran. With grumbling British agreement, the council delayed action until Mossadegh could come from Iran to present his country's side of the dispute which has idled the giant oil industry.

'Severe Exhaustion'

Mossadegh, who led the nationalization fight, arrived Monday and promptly entered New York Hospital, suffering from what doctors described as severe exhaustion.

Iranian Deputy Premier Hossein Fatemi told a news conference last night that Iran is willing to talk with the British again about the oil question, but that Iran opposes Security Council intervention in what it considers a domestic matter. He also expressed opposition to any move to have the council name a neutral umpire.

Another British source said a new British resolution for the council was shaping up along a middle course favored by the United States. With U. S. delegation approval of the draft, he said, talks with other Security Council members were expected to last throughout today.

The British hope to get something satisfactory to at least seven council members, and something that will not draw a Russian veto. The Russians have contended, with the Iranians, that the Security Council has no business intervening.

Increase Is Given

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—Bronx apartment house service workers, who went on strike for three days last week, have received a $5 to $10 monthly pay boost. Borough President James J. Lyons disclosed yesterday the terms of a three-year agreement reached last Friday between the Bronx Realty Advisory Board, the landlord's group, and a local of the AFL Building Service Workers International Union. Full-time employes will get the $10, part-time employes $5. The pay increases are retroactive to Sept. 15.

State to Request More Steel For Construction of Schools

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—The New York State Commission on School Buildings has voted to ask the National Production Authority for more steel for school construction.

Also, the commission has urged local construction during the current emergency.

The actions were voted yesterday as the commission was told that the school construction in the state soon will decline to a "calamitous stage" if the federal government sticks to its present steel allocation policies.

This statement came from Don L. Essex, director of the school buildings and grounds division of the State Department of Education.

Essex told the commission that the federal government is giving 33 per cent more steel to automobile manufacturers than to school building.

"It does not seem," Essex said, "that schools are getting anything like a fair deal in the amount of steel allocated."

He said New York state asked for 13,746 tons of steel for the fourth quarter of 1951, but got only 5,454 tons.

Essex said the state requested 20,873 tons for the first quarter of 1952, but thus far the National Production Authority has released only 2,362 tons.

Here's the way he summed up the situation:

"Construction has been slowed down already. If the same policy is carried forward to the first quarter of 1952, a calamitous stage will be reached. It would completely stop construction in a large number of communities."

New York state, Essex said, cur-

Tanks Give Big Support To Infantry

Hopes It's End

Van Fleet Anticipates Finish of Fight for Ridge

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, Oct. 10 (AP)—Fifty American tanks led thousands of U. S. infantrymen on a surprise attack today that smashed eight miles through Chinese lines in eastern Korea.

Gen. James A. Van Fleet, in a surprise visit to the front, expressed hope the raid "will be the end of the Heartbreak Ridge fighting."

Green Chinese troops turned and ran in the face of the armored thrust.

The surprise drive carried the raiding Americans past the village of Mundung, 23 miles north of the 38th Parallel and two miles west of Heartbreak Ridge.

The raiders sent the Chinese "running in all directions."

In the air American jet pilots reported they probably shot down two Russian-type MIG-15 jets in a clash between 32 Thunderjets and 25 Reds.

Two American planes were lost in other actions. An F-4-U fighter was shot down by ground fire. A Shooting Star jet crashed in a strafing run.

Counterattacks Fought

On the ground Americans fought fierce 1,000 man Red counterattacks and hacked out small gains of their own in two sectors. One U. S. unit was pushed back slightly in the east.

The tank-infantry task force returned to its own lines by nightfall after slashing up a valley alongside Heartbreak Ridge. It caught green Chinese troops by surprise as the Reds moved into the front to relieve North Koreans.

The tanks rumbled up a river bed trail prepared in advance by American engineers. A full regiment of infantrymen—about 3,750 men and officers—flanked the tanks.

A smaller Second Division tank-infantry force shot up Heartbreak Ridge bunkers from Satae Valley east of the ridge.

Resistance Is Fierce

U. S. Second Division infantrymen on the ridges ran into fierce resistance to the east, but captured two hills west of the valley. A counterattack by 1,000 Chinese forced the 38th Regiment to withdraw from one mountain on Kim Il Sung Ridge near Heartbreak.

Attacking units of the Red regiment were stopped cold on a small ridgeline west of the northern tip of Heartbreak.

The UN command announced U. S. First Division cavalrymen beat back a 1,000-man Red counterattack northwest of Yonchon and scored small gains of their own.

B-29 Superforts blasted two airfields at Pyongyang, the Korean Red capital, with 130,000 pounds of high explosives in the continuing campaign to keep Communists from basing their growing air forces in Korea.

Southwest Gets Heat

(By The Associated Press)

It looked like a pleasant autumn day for most of the nation today but the far southwest was still having a heat wave. Fair skies were forecast for nearly the entire country during the day. There was ground fog early today in parts of Kentucky and Tennessee northward to the upper Mississippi valley and the lower Great Lakes region. The only rain was along the North Carolina coast and the southern tip of Florida. Warmest weather was west of the Mississippi river. Readings yesterday generally were in the 70's and 80's and near 100 in many places in the far southwest. Cool spots early today included Cadillac, Mich., with a low of 20 and Grand Marais, Mich., 23.

Mother Saves Children

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—One by one, a Brooklyn mother dropped four of her children three stories into a blanket held by neighbors yesterday as fire destroyed their apartment building. Then she collapsed and died in the flames before help could reach her. Mrs. Irma Randall, 35-year-old Negro, shouted, to passersby when she discovered the fire. Then she calmly tossed out the blanket, followed by the children, aged 18 months to eight years. But the blanket was too flimsy for her to risk a jump, and the flames kept a neighbor from reaching her. Firemen arrived with a ladder too late. Only one of her children was hurt.

Fire Chief Gives Talk to Lions Club

"Did it ever occur to you that a life might be lost in your own home?" Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy asked members of the Kingston Lions Club during a Fire Prevention Week program Tuesday noon.

The fire chief called for cooperation in promotion of fire prevention methods, compliance with city fire inspection ordinances. He also revealed that the city has two new 500-gallon pumpers on order, and said that one new piece of equipment purchased each year in the future would keep the department in good condition for service.

Of Kingston's volunteer fire companies, Chief Murphy said the volunteers are rendering a "very, very valuable service to the city."

Multiple Residence Law

Speaking on the new multiple residence law, the chief said:

In 1951, the Legislature of the State of New York adopted what is commonly known as The Multiple Residence Law which applies to all cities of less than a population of 500,000. This law was designed to provide more adequate protection in the event of fire and to provide sufficient light, ventilation and sanitation for mulitple residence dwellings.

A multiple dwelling is defined as a dwelling which is rented, leased, let or hired out, to be occupied, or is occupied as the tempoary or permanent residence or home of three or more families living independently of each other. Examples of buildings included would be apartment houses, convalescent, old age or nursing homes. A private dwelling, two or more stories in height and with five or more boarders, roomers or lodgers in one household is also considered to be a multiple dwelling.

The law makes separate provisions for old multiple dwellings, hotels and new multiple dwellings.

The provisions pertaining to the fire protection and sanitation of old multiple dwellings must be complied with on or before July 1st, 1954. One of the requirements is that a dwelling three or more stories in height must have at least two means of egress, accessible on the same floor from each apartment or suite. The first means of egress must open into a public hall with safe access to a street, or court or yard. The second means of egress must be directly to a fire-escape or to an enclosed stair without passing through the first means of egress. In lieu of the second means of egress of a fire escape or enclosed separate stair, a sprinkler system may be installed in public halls and stairs. Incombustible or fire-resistive material must be used in halls and stair-ways. Provision is also made for the protection of dumbwaiter shafts, cellar ceilings and inside cellar stairs. Under sanitation, there must be an adequate water supply as well as plumbing and drainage facilities.

New multiple dwellings erected after July 1, 1952, will have to be constructed to provide the light and air, fire protection and safety and sanitation and health measures required by the Multiple Residence Law. Entrance doors must be at least 44 inches wide and open outwardly. Provision is also made for the lighting, ventilating and size of rooms and for cooking spaces. Every public hall, stair or fire-escape on every floor must be adequately lighted. Winding stairs are prohibited. The boiler or furnace must be enclosed in a fire proof room or space and all openings to other portions of the dwelling must be equipped with fireproof doors the size of entrance halls, stairs and fire escapes.

The Multiple Residence Law makes additional provisions for new multiple dwellings exceeding 6 stories or 75 feet in height. Each such dwelling must be fireproof. A dwelling not exceeding 75 feet or 6 stories in height may be of non-fireproof construction.

The officer in the City of Kingston charged with the duty of enforcing the law is the fire chief. Every owner of a multiple dwelling will be required to file a registration statement, setting forth information, among other things, as to the type of construction, number of apartments and type of occupancy.

A permit must be secured from the enforcing officer before the construction or alteration of a multiple dwelling or any part or section thereof may be commenced.

No multiple dwelling constructed, altered or converted after July 1, 1952 shall be occupied in whole or in part until a certificate of occupancy has been issued. Before an owner of an old multiple dwelling can secure such a certificate, it must be found that no violations are found against such dwelling.

Any person failing to comply within 30 days with a notice or order to remove a violation or a nuisance will be guilty of a misdemeanor. For each offense he may be fined a sum not exceeding $500 or by imprisonment for not more than one year or by both fine and imprisonment.

Albany, Oct. 10 (AP)—The Board of Regents had set up a four-member committee to aid schools in a campaign to stamp out drug addiction among teen-agers. The committee was appointed yesterday on the recommendation of Education Commissioner Lewis A. Wilson, who said the Regents were "determined that nothing be left undone to safeguard children." Wilson explained that the schools had been asked to "strengthen their teaching of the harmful effects of narcotics and to be constantly on watch for any attempts to victimize students."

Mother Saves Children

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—One by one, a Brooklyn mother dropped four of her children three stories into a blanket held by neighbors yesterday as fire destroyed their apartment building. Then she collapsed and died in the flames before help could reach her. Mrs. Irma Randall, 35-year-old Negro, shouted, to passersby when she discovered the fire. Then she calmly tossed out the blanket, followed by the children, aged 18 months to eight years. But the blanket was too flimsy for her to risk a jump, and the flames kept a neighbor from reaching her. Firemen arrived with a ladder too late. Only one of her children was hurt.

Fire Chief Gives Talk to Lions Club

"Did it ever occur to you that a life might be lost in your own home?" Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy asked members of the Kingston Lions Club during a Fire Prevention Week program Tuesday noon.

The fire chief called for cooperation in promotion of fire prevention methods, compliance with city fire inspection ordinances. He also revealed that the city has two new 500-gallon pumpers on order, and said that one new piece of equipment purchased each year in the future would keep the department in good condition for service.

Of Kingston's volunteer fire companies, Chief Murphy said the volunteers are rendering a "very, very valuable service to the city."

Multiple Residence Law

Speaking on the new multiple residence law, the chief said:

In 1951, the Legislature of the State of New York adopted what is commonly known as The Multiple Residence Law which applies to all cities of less than a population of 500,000. This law was designed to provide more adequate protection in the event of fire and to provide sufficient light, ventilation and sanitation for mulitple residence dwellings.

A multiple dwelling is defined as a dwelling which is rented, leased, let or hired out, to be occupied, or is occupied as the tempoary or permanent residence or home of three or more families living independently of each other. Examples of buildings included would be apartment houses, convalescent, old age or nursing homes. A private dwelling, two or more stories in height and with five or more boarders, roomers or lodgers in one household is also considered to be a multiple dwelling.

The law makes separate provisions for old multiple dwellings, hotels and new multiple dwellings.

The provisions pertaining to the fire protection and sanitation of old multiple dwellings must be complied with on or before July 1st, 1954. One of the requirements is that a dwelling three or more stories in height must have at least two means of egress, accessible on the same floor from each apartment or suite. The first means of egress must open into a public hall with safe access to a street, or court or yard. The second means of egress must be directly to a fire-escape or to an enclosed stair without passing through the first means of egress. In lieu of the second means of egress of a fire escape or enclosed separate stair, a sprinkler system may be installed in public halls and stairs. Incombustible or fire-resistive material must be used in halls and stair-ways. Provision is also made for the protection of dumbwaiter shafts, cellar ceilings and inside cellar stairs. Under sanitation, there must be an adequate water supply as well as plumbing and drainage facilities.

New multiple dwellings erected after July 1, 1952, will have to be constructed to provide the light and air, fire protection and safety and sanitation and health measures required by the Multiple Residence Law. Entrance doors must be at least 44 inches wide and open outwardly. Provision is also made for the lighting, ventilating and size of rooms and for cooking spaces. Every public hall, stair or fire-escape on every floor must be adequately lighted. Winding stairs are prohibited. The boiler or furnace must be enclosed in a fire proof room or space and all openings to other portions of the dwelling must be equipped with fireproof doors the size of entrance halls, stairs and fire escapes.

The Multiple Residence Law makes additional provisions for new multiple dwellings exceeding 6 stories or 75 feet in height. Each such dwelling must be fireproof. A dwelling not exceeding 75 feet or 6 stories in height may be of non-fireproof construction.

The officer in the City of Kingston charged with the duty of enforcing the law is the fire chief. Every owner of a multiple dwelling will be required to file a registration statement, setting forth information, among other things, as to the type of construction, number of apartments and type of occupancy.

A permit must be secured from the enforcing officer before the construction or alteration of a multiple dwelling or any part or section thereof may be commenced.

No multiple dwelling constructed, altered or converted after July 1, 1952 shall be occupied in whole or in part until a certificate of occupancy has been issued. Before an owner of an old multiple dwelling can secure such a certificate, it must be found that no violations are found against such dwelling.

Any person failing to comply within 30 days with a notice or order to remove a violation or a nuisance will be guilty of a misdemeanor. For each offense he may be fined a sum not exceeding $500 or by imprisonment for not more than one year or by both fine and imprisonment.

RATIONING FREEDOM

The Communists would have the world believe that they are liberals. They speak often about liberty for the masses and freedom for minorities. The best answer to their falsehood can come from one of their most revered phophets, Nikolai Lenin, who said:

"It is true that liberty is a precious thing—so precious that it must be rationed."

Here in a capsule is the Communist philosophy on liberty: It must be rationed, and Communists must be the ones to ration it. How tight their rationing has become can only be realized by the millions of people behind the Iron Curtain, who live in the constant fear that they have exhausted their ration of liberty.

Lenin erred in his assumption that the nature of liberty permits rationing and in the thought that any man or group of men can ration it without destroying it. His followers have adhered strictly to the meaning of his statement, and have attempted to justify slavery, religious persecution and political purges by the ridiculous excuse that liberty is so precious it must be rationed.

Thomas Jefferson had a better concept of liberty. He said: "The same God who gave us life gave us liberty at the same time." No government nor group gave man liberty. Man's freedom is inherent, limited only by respect for the freedom of his fellow citizens.

Aviators know that the silver lining of a cloud is located on its upper side. The trick of finding it depends on the ability to hold one's head high enough, amid the day's assortment of troubles, to see above them.

PERIL OF POWER THIRST

Aggressors never know when to quit. Had the Kaiser been satisfied to retain the great power he had and had he not begun a conquest of Europe, he might have reigned in Germany till his death. Had Napoleon been wise enough to hold his ambition in check while France was a dominating force in Europe, he might never have made Waterloo a synonym for downfall. Had Hitler been satisfied with the concessions granted to him at Munich, the ruins of Berlin might not be his only monument today.

The Emperor of Japan lost most of his power and his godlike position when Japan set out on the conqueror's path. The Russians have started down the road which has so often led to complete defeat.

Power over the lives of men seems to have an effect on some men like that of strong liquor. The urge to try to satisfy the ever-growing craving brings the once mighty to the gutter.

Juan and Eva Peron of Argentina seem to be in danger of forgetting this obvious truth.

It is not exactly true that discretion is the better part of valor. Discretion may occasionally be necessary to the survival of valor. But without valor discretion would be utterly wasted.

MAY TAKE DRASTIC MEASURES

The wild gyrations of the Paris cab driver are legendary. He is a great strategist when operating on the public thoroughfare. With admirable will power, he restrains his brake foot 90 per cent of the time. His beeping horn is his greatest offensive weapon.

Paris traffic rules are so cumbersome and complex that the average cabbie apparently figures he is doing the authorities a favor by ignoring them—which he does very well. Now, however, the Paris police have somehow aroused his ire.

A man of spirit, the cabbie naturally has risen to the challenge. He has threatened the authorities with drastic retaliation. He has promised that if the annoyances of the police do not stop, he and all his brethren will obey the traffic rules.

The shorter fall days find youngsters beset with confusing parental logic. First they are too young to stay up late, and then they are too big to loll around in bed in the morning.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

BELOW THE BELT

I recently received a letter from a young man who critically made the point that Americans do not like a person who hits below the belt. He was referring to Senator Joe McCarthy.

The logic of his position is that a man has a moral right to change his mind, his associations, his partisanships and his religion. None of us is perfect and our mistakes are numerous. They often strike back at us when we can least afford it.

Our problem, however, is to go over the past that we may be wiser in the future; to study and document the Soviet infiltration into the American government. It would even be of advantage to discover if other governments have done the same. That is why I favor investigation into the Chinese (both groups), French, British, Arab, South American and other foreign lobbies that may attempt to influence American public opinion. Let us have the entire picture clear once and for all time.

It is for this reason and not to pillory individuals that the investigations of the McCarran Committee are important.

For instance, Elizabeth Bentley testified that Gregory Silvermaster, who had been in the Farm Security Administration and the Board of Economic Warfare, was in her espionage group when she was a Russian agent. Here is a telling colloquy:

"Senator Ferguson. What were your avenues for placing people in strategic positions?

"Miss Bentley. I would say that two of our best ones were Harry Dexter White and Lauchlin Currie. They had an immense amount of influence and knew people and their word would be accepted when they recommended someone.

"The chairman. Harry Dexter White was in what department?

"Miss Bentley. Under Secretary of the Treasury under Mr. Morgenthau.

"Senator Ferguson. In other words, Currie and White were your instrumentalities in putting people in strategic positions?

"Miss Bentley. I would say they were our most important ones."

The Lauchlin Currie to whom Miss Bentley referred was a secretary to President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Miss Bentley testified under oath. I understand that Lauchlin Currie will be given an opportunity, if he desires it, to testify under oath. If one of them is untruthful, it is up to the Attorney General of the United States to obtain an indictment for perjury and to have the case tried in a court of law.

A Congressional committee investigates; it does not convict. If Miss Bentley's testimony is untruthful, then doubt is cast upon her former testimony, which did produce convictions. She has just published a book. "Out of Bondage," and articles by her appeared in "McCall's Magazine." She mentions names of persons who are alive and whose remedy is in our courts. They can sue her for libel, but to do so involves them in the danger of conviction for perjury, as it does her. She takes all the risks but those who attack what she says under oath as hearsay are apparenty unwilling to risk anything. They smear her but they do not impeach her veracity by due process of the law.

Further she testified:

"Senator Ferguson. But if you desired to shift a person from one position to another position you would use White and Currie?

"Miss Bentley. We would use White and Currie if we could.

"Senator Eastland. Do you know who White's principal contacts were in the government so that he could place people in government?

"Miss Bentley. It was my understanding that he knew practically everyone in Washington who had any influence.

"Senator Eastland. You do not know whom he would contact?

"Miss Bentley. No, not specifically, that was his affair, and we did not inquire into it."

Harry Dexter White was responsible for the Morgenthau plan, which has been one of the most damaging to American policy in Europe. This colloquoy follows:

"Senator Eastland. What you say is that it was a Communist plot to destroy Germany and weaken her to where she could not help us?

"Miss Bentley. That is correct. She could no longer be a barrier that would protect the western world.

"Senator Eastland. And that Mr. Morgenthau, who was Secretary of the Treasury of the United States was used by the Communist agents to promote that plot?

"Miss Bentley. I am afraid so, yes.

"Senator Ferguson. What do you mean by 'I am afraid so'?

"Miss Bentley. Certainly Secretary Morgenthau didn't fall in with Communist plots."

Miss Bentley's testimony is under oath. Harry Dexter White is dead, but Henry Morgenthau is alive. He is privileged to tell his story.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

RHEUMATIC HEART DISEASE

"The high death rate from rheumatic heart disease among school children in Colorado and in Denver stimulated special interest in this disease. A rheumatic fever diagnostic service was developed. The Colorado Heart Association directs the policies of the clinic and has assumed an increasing share of the expense."

I am quoting Dr. C. A. Brown in American Medical Women's Association in a symposium on school health.

The fact that a diagnostic clinic on heart disease in school children was started in the city of Denver sharpened the awareness of both physicians and the general public of the problems of heart disease in children just as cancer clinics and arthritis clinics sharpened the awareness of us all of these two disabling and fatal diseases.

During the first four years of the operation of this rheumatic heart clinic in Denver, 3,235 children were referred to it; 16.2 per cent (about 1 in 6) were shown to have rheumatic heart disease and 6.2 per cent were proved to have been born with heart defects.

A small group were considered as being likely to develop rheumatic heart disease and are being watched. Children classified as having rheumatic heart disease or likely to develop it are urged to have re-examination the next year or even sooner if any symptoms arise.

One of the great benefits of this diagnostic clinic in rheumatic heart disease, a benefit recognized by physicians but unfortunately not fully recognized by the public, is that it prevents children whose parents or even the family doctor thought had rheumatic heart disease being treated as heart cripples, forbidden to play or take any exercise, when there is no real heart disease present.

We must all agree that the prevention of false heart cripples is as important as careful treatment of cases of real heart disease. It is certainly a dreary life for a normal youngster to be not permitted to be himself at home, school or in the schoolyard.

On the other hand, it is equally important that children with active rheumatic fever be placed under medical treatment at once, either in private hospitals, at home or in clinics.

Even children born with heart defects face a far brighter future today than as few as ten years ago.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Some of the most vital congressional debates never get into the headlines. All last week, a debate affecting the pocketbook of every adult in the nation took place between conferees from the Senate and House over taxes. Newsmen and the public were not admitted.

The chief debaters were two distinguished and highly respected gentlemen from the South—Sen. Walter F. George of Georgia and Rep. Bob Dougton of North Carolina. In many respects they are similar, but on taxes they vigorously disagree.

Both are elderly—George 73 and Doughton 86. Both have served in Congress for a large part of the 20th century—George for 20 years, Doughton 40 years. Both come from rural back grounds, though George of late has numbered some of the nation's captains of high finance among his friends.

Doughton, despite his age, has long been the first congressman to get to work in the morning. He used to open his office at 5:30 a. m. but after passing his 80th birthday, he compromised by getting to work at 6 a. m. Down in North Carolina, Doughton used to ride a big white mule through the mountains visiting constituents, which gave him the nickname "Muley Bob."

In the recent closed-door tax debates, Senator George probably has thought that Dougton was mulish in more ways than one, for Muley Bob has been his most stubborn opponent in trying to plug the loopholes in the Senate's so-called "millionaires" tax bill.

'Cuts! Cuts! Cut!'

"All of the Senate amendments are for tax relief in one form or another," grumbled the big North Carolinian at one stormy committee session, "Cuts!—Cuts!—Cuts!"

"The President asked us for sixteen billions in new taxes to balance the budget," Doughton continued, aiming his remarks directly at Senator George, "but the House cut this down to ten billion and finally to $7.2 billion. You can't reduce it any more without ruining our economy. How in the world the Senate arrived at the conclusion that we can get by with only $5.4 billion of new taxes is beyond me."

"The Senate figure of $5.4 billion is the maximum our economy can stand," argued Senator George. "If you tax business any more you will curtail production and destroy the incentive of free enterprise."

"Cuts! — Cuts — Cuts!" roared Doughton. "That's the only language you fellows know."

Rep. John Dingell of Detroit supported Doughton.

"For every dollar the Senate bill saves in new taxes, we will lose ten dollars in the resulting depreciation of our currency," Dingell argued.

"Taxes don't hurt the people when their dollars have a high purchasing power," continued the Detroiter. "It's when their dollars depreciate that they feel the tax pinch worst. Yet this Senate bill would create more inflation by deficit spending and adding to the national debt. For we'll simply have to borrow money to meet expenses instead of raising it by taxes.

"I hear a lot of these big corporation directors say that they hate communism, but they apparently don't hate it enough to cough up some extra taxes to keep our government solvent."

Neither Doughton nor Dingell, however, could move George. He told the House conferees in effect that they could argue until they were blue in the face without changing his position.

"I want to say furthermore," the senator added with an icy glare at Doughton, "that this is the last tax bill I'll bring in unless we get into an all-out war."

Note—Actually it is the duty of the House of Representatives to initiate or "bring in" tax legislation. The Senate passes on the tax bill after the House adopts it. George, as chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, can exercise powerful influence over any tax bill, but it's doubtful if he could block one altogether.

Taft Vs. Eisenhower

Taft Maneuvers — A secret strategy meeting of Taft-for-president leaders was held in Washington last Thursday night. Present was John Hamilton, the Kansas-born GOP chairman for Alf Landon who now works for oilman Joe Pew in Philadelphia; also Taft's cousin, Dave Ingalls, who was assistant secretary of war in the Hoover administration.

Ingalls, who has been scouring the 48 states for Taft delegates, reported to the meeting that if the convention were held today, Taft would pull 500 of the 600 GOP delegates.

Other present were more conservative, estimated Taft's strength nearer 350. Ingalls also announced that the only threat to Taft was Eisenhower, but that GOP leaders figure he will not make a sufficient aggressive fight to get nominated.

Note—During the session, machine-manufacturer Tom Coleman, chief Taft leader in Wisconsin, telephoned, GOP national committeeman and head of Union Refrigerator Cars, to sign the Taft pledge, but Phillips finally did so to support John Hamilton.

Eisenhower Maneuvers—Anti-Taft forces, fully sensing the danger that Taft will definitely pledge GOP leaders before they know whether Eisenhower is available, have now decided to take the bit in their teeth.

They will put out an announcement fairly soon that Sen. James Duff of Pennsylvania will head the Eisenhower forces. Following this, they expect to get a personal statement from the general around Christmas time, possibly before. He will state that he will be available for the GOP nomination.

Reason for the early appointment of Jim Duff as Eisenhower leader is the current hemming-and-hawing among the general's supporters. As between genial ex-Senator Harry Darby of Kansas, Governor Tom Dewey, and Senator Duff, no one has known who was boss.

Sawyer's Proposal for Conference Comes Three Months Too Late

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Oct. 10—Maybe the left hand doesn't know what the right hand is doing in the Truman administration but the suggestion just made by Secretary of Commerce Sawyer that the publishers of America and the government might get together to deal constructively with the problem of information and censorship comes about three months late.

What Mr. Sawyer doesn't know evidently is that a representative committee of newspaper editors was summoned on July 10 last and shown a draft of the proposed executive order. They were told it was going to be submitted to the National Security Council within two days. The newspaper editors now reveal that their suggestions in the main were spurned. Here is the record of what happened as set forth in a letter just written to the American Society of Newspaper Editors by a committee composed of Alexander F. Jones, president, who is editor of the Syracuse Herald-Journal and formerly managing editor of the Washington Post; B. M. McKelway, editor of the Washington Star and a past president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors; James S. Pope, editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal and chairman of the society's Committee on Freedom of Information; Walker H. Stone, editor of the Scripps-Howard newspaper alliance; and Jack H. Lockhart, now assistant general editorial manager of the Scripps-Howard newspapers but associated with the Office of Censorship in World War 2.

The committee's letter reviews the efforts it made to get the executive order modified and says with reference to a White House meeting on July 10:

"For three hours, and paragraph by paragraph, we discussed with Joseph Short (the President's press secretary) and his assistants a rather lengthy and complicated document which was called the tentative draft of the proposed executive order.

"We offered a number of objections and suggestions. We were not persuaded that it was either necessary or desirable for the President to issue a blanket order delegating to the heads of all governmental agencies the authority to classify information as 'top secret,' 'secret,' 'confidential' or 'restricted.' We agreed that it was proper for the Department of Defense to withhold military secrets, in instances where disclosure would adversely affect national security. But we suggested that it was an entirely different matter to give to the top officials of all government agencies the discretion to determine how much and what of the public's business should be disclosed to the public. We contended that this would lead ,too often, to the with-holding of information which had no bearing on national security.

"We suggested that if the government was going ahead with the project, the executive order at least should define 'security information,' and should set up a central appeal board to pass upon the rulings of various government officials."

When the meeting was over, the committee was told that it could submit further recommendations but that action was going to be taken anyhow in two days, so the committee wrote a letter reiterating its objections and adding a declaration of opposition to the order on the ground that each head of a government agency should not be given authority to classify information "without definition of what breaches national security and without appeal or review."

On July 27 the White House notified the editors that the National Security Council had approved the order, and on September 25 it was issued. The committee, in its report to the American Society of Newspaper Editors, now says:

"The executive order which the President issued September 25 does not differ in any important essentials from the tentative draft we saw on July 10."

So Secretary Sawyer's idea that the editors and publishers could be helpful on this delicate problem is meritorious to the extent that the editors tried out his suggestion last July only to find that a presumably omniscient President firmly rejected the advice of those with experience and proceeded in a press conference instead to accuse them of a lack of patriotism. That's hardly the way to solve problems in a country which boasts of its guarantees of freedom of information.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Cincinnati, Oct. 9—I am a Republican. I note with suspicion that the New York Times, the Washington Post, China-boy Luce, Thomas E. Dewey and a half-dozen morose bores of Washington journalism who constantly berate us anti-Communists for exposing their heroes, are trying to nominate a candidate for my party.

They are trying to give us Eisenhower.

Why are they so good to us? They don't like our party and they want to re-elect Harry Truman, so why do they keep telling us that Ike is our only chance?

It comes to me that they are trying to plant Ike on us, realizing that, in a free-style, rough-tumble election, Truman would take all the fight out of Ike and chase him bow-legged.

All, that is, except Dewey. Dewey is a confusion. We gave him two nominations and both times he let us down. In the first one, he tried to win the support of the pro-Communist Sidney Hillman who was in Roosevelt's debt and also in his vest pocket, and the support of other professional union mobsters by a fatuous, untrue statement that the Wagner Act and the Communist-controlled Labor Relations Board were now accepted institutions and were no longer in controversy.

In the same futile, pathetic and insincere mood he endorsed a state fair employment practise act as a sop to organized forces which hate our constitution because it protects real Americans from European socialism and statism. Dewey knew that the state had absolutely no right to step in and say I can't hire a man of my own race or religion on grounds of racial and religious preference. Of course I can, every American has the right to this preference.

Senator Taft was coming along and showing integrity where Tom showed littleness. Willkie ditched Dewey in 1940 but he also ditched Taft. Now Taft has been deferred three times, once for Willkie and twice for Dewey. But instead of turning to and trying to elect a man head and shoulders better than he is in character, integrity and political courage, Dewey is trying to ditch Taft again out of jealousy.

Truman is a snarling fighter. The only repartee that he understands is a kick in the pelvis, a criminal coup with which he threatened a music critic, a pat on the skull with a sawed-off poolcue and a volley of bottles and brass gobboons. He has no more manners than any Kansas City back-room bum and no more respect for the office of President than Roosevelt had or Elliott or Jimmy.

The tip-off on his character came at a special session of Congress soon after the 1948 convention. He called it for the purpose of degrading the legislative arm by converting this meeting into an occasion for the opening speech of his campaign. It was a scurrilous speech, delivered with that snarl which became familiar to the nation in the ensuing months. Even the Democrats, with few exceptions, refused him as much as a perfunctory cheer as he went back up the aisle when he was done.

Why does anyone think Ike could out-scuffle this uninhabited street-sparrow with no holds barred?

The truth is nobody does among this pack of saboteurs, not even Dewey. Truman would wipe that smile off Eisenhower's face in ten days and cut him to pieces with dirty cracks about his own guilt in the creation of the ghastly mess in Europe and the English babe who wrote that she just sort of oozed into his household and became his solace and chauffeur and later his secretary.

Oozed-in, hell! The British counter-intelligence planted her on him to put him over a barrel whether the dame knew it or not.

The New York Times is a Democratic paper. Why is the Times so diligent to pick Ike for

RATIONING FREEDOM

The Communists would have the world believe that they are liberals. They speak often about liberty for the masses and freedom for minorities. The best answer to their falsehood can come from one of their most revered phophets, Nikolai Lenin, who said:

"It is true that liberty is a precious thing—so precious that it must be rationed."

Here in a capsule is the Communist philosophy on liberty: It must be rationed, and Communists must be the ones to ration it. How tight their rationing has become can only be realized by the millions of people behind the Iron Curtain, who live in the constant fear that they have exhausted their ration of liberty.

Lenin erred in his assumption that the nature of liberty permits rationing and in the thought that any man or group of men can ration it without destroying it. His followers have adhered strictly to the meaning of his statement, and have attempted to justify slavery, religious persecution and political purges by the ridiculous excuse that liberty is so precious it must be rationed.

Thomas Jefferson had a better concept of liberty. He said: "The same God who gave us life gave us liberty at the same time." No government nor group gave man liberty. Man's freedom is inherent, limited only by respect for the freedom of his fellow citizens.

Aviators know that the silver lining of a cloud is located on its upper side. The trick of finding it depends on the ability to hold one's head high enough, amid the day's assortment of troubles, to see above them.

PERIL OF POWER THIRST

Aggressors never know when to quit. Had the Kaiser been satisfied to retain the great power he had and had he not begun a conquest of Europe, he might have reigned in Germany till his death. Had Napoleon been wise enough to hold his ambition in check while France was a dominating force in Europe, he might never have made Waterloo a synonym for downfall. Had Hitler been satisfied with the concessions granted to him at Munich, the ruins of Berlin might not be his only monument today.

The Emperor of Japan lost most of his power and his godlike position when Japan set out on the conqueror's path. The Russians have started down the road which has so often led to complete defeat.

Power over the lives of men seems to have an effect on some men like that of strong liquor. The urge to try to satisfy the ever-growing craving brings the once mighty to the gutter.

Juan and Eva Peron of Argentina seem to be in danger of forgetting this obvious truth.

It is not exactly true that discretion is the better part of valor. Discretion may occasionally be necessary to the survival of valor. But without valor discretion would be utterly wasted.

MAY TAKE DRASTIC MEASURES

The wild gyrations of the Paris cab driver are legendary. He is a great strategist when operating on the public thoroughfare. With admirable will power, he restrains his brake foot 90 per cent of the time. His beeping horn is his greatest offensive weapon.

Paris traffic rules are so cumbersome and complex that the average cabbie apparently figures he is doing the authorities a favor by ignoring them—which he does very well. Now, however, the Paris police have somehow aroused his ire.

A man of spirit, the cabbie naturally has risen to the challenge. He has threatened the authorities with drastic retaliation. He has promised that if the annoyances of the police do not stop, he and all his brethren will obey the traffic rules.

'These Days'

BELOW THE BELT

I recently received a letter from a young man who critically made the point that Americans do not like a person who hits below the belt. He was referring to Senator Joe McCarthy.

The logic of his position is that a man has a moral right to change his mind, his associations, his partisanships and his religion. None of us is perfect and our mistakes are numerous. They often strike back at us when we can least afford it.

Our problem, however, is to go over the past that we may be wiser in the future; to study and document the Soviet infiltration into the American government. It would even be of advantage to discover if other governments have done the same. That is why I favor investigation into the Chinese (both groups), French, British, Arab, South American and other foreign lobbies that may attempt to influence American public opinion. Let us have the entire picture clear once and for all time.

It is for this reason and not to pillory individuals that the investigations of the McCarran Committee are important.

For instance, Elizabeth Bentley testified that Gregory Silvermaster, who had been in the Farm Security Administration and the Board of Economic Warfare, was in her espionage group when she was a Russian agent. Here is a telling colloquy:

"Senator Ferguson. What were your avenues for placing people in strategic positions?

"Miss Bentley. I would say that two of our best ones were Harry Dexter White and Lauchlin Currie. They had an immense amount of influence and knew people and their word would be accepted when they recommended someone.

"The chairman. Harry Dexter White was in what department?

"Miss Bentley. Under Secretary of the Treasury under Mr. Morgenthau.

"Senator Ferguson. In other words, Currie and White were your instrumentalities in putting people in strategic positions?

"Miss Bentley. I would say they were our most important ones."

The Lauchlin Currie to whom Miss Bentley referred was a secretary to President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Miss Bentley testified under oath. I understand that Lauchlin Currie will be given an opportunity, if he desires it, to testify under oath. If one of them is untruthful, it is up to the Attorney General of the United States to obtain an indictment for perjury and to have the case tried in a court of law.

A Congressional committee investigates; it does not convict. If Miss Bentley's testimony is untruthful, then doubt is cast upon her former testimony, which did produce convictions. She has just published a book, "Out of Bondage," and articles by her appeared in "McCall's Magazine." She mentions names of persons who are alive and whose remedy is in our courts. They can sue her for libel, but to do so involves them in the danger of conviction for perjury, as it does her. She takes all the risks but those who attack what she says under oath as hearsay are apparently unwilling to risk anything. They smear her but they do not impeach her veracity by due process of the law.

Further she testified:

"Senator Ferguson. But if you desired to shift a person from one position to another position you would use White and Currie?

"Miss Bentley. We would use White and Currie if we could.

"Senator Eastland. Do you know who White's principal contacts were in the government so that he could place people in government?

"Miss Bentley. It was my understanding that he knew practically everyone in Washington who had any influence.

"Senator Eastland. You do not know whom he would contact?

"Miss Bentley. No, not specifically, that was his affair, and we did not inquire into it."

Harry Dexter White was responsible for the Morgenthau plan, which has been one of the most damaging to American policy in Europe. This colloquoy follows:

"Senator Eastland. What you say is that it was a Communist plot to destroy Germany and weaken her to where she could not help us?

"Miss Bentley. That is correct. She could no longer be a barrier that would protect the western world.

"Senator Eastland. And that Mr. Morgenthau, who was Secretary of the Treasury of the United States was used by the Communist agents to promote that plot?

"Miss Bentley. I am afraid so, yes.

"Senator Ferguson. What do you mean by 'I am afraid so'?

"Miss Bentley. Certainly Secretary Morgenthau didn't fall in with Communist plots."

Miss Bentley's testimony is under oath. Harry Dexter White is dead, but Henry Morgenthau is alive. He is privileged to tell his story.

RHEUMATIC HEART DISEASE

"The high death rate from rheumatic heart disease among school children in Colorado and in Denver stimulated special interest in this disease. A rheumatic fever diagnostic service was developed. The Colorado Heart Association directs the policies of the clinic and has assumed an increasing share of the expense."

I am quoting Dr. C. A. Brown in American Medical Women's Association in a symposium on school health.

The fact that a diagnostic clinic on heart disease in school children was started in the city of Denver sharpened the awareness of both physicians and the general public of the problems of heart disease in children just as cancer clinics and arthritis clinics sharpened the awareness of us all of these two disabling and fatal diseases.

During the first four years of the operation of this rheumatic heart clinic in Denver, 3,235 children were referred to it; 16.2 per cent (about 1 in 6) were shown to have rheumatic heart disease and 6.2 per cent were proved to have been born with heart defects.

A small group were considered as being likely to develop rheumatic heart disease and are being watched. Children classified as having rheumatic heart disease or likely to develop it are urged to have re-examination the next year or even sooner if any symptoms arise.

One of the great benefits of this diagnostic clinic in rheumatic heart disease, a benefit recognized by physicians but unfortunately not fully recognized by the public, is that it prevents children whose parents or even the family doctor thought had rheumatic heart disease being treated as heart cripples, forbidden to play or take any exercise, when there is no real heart disease present.

We must all agree that the prevention of false heart cripples is as important as careful treatment of cases of real heart disease. It is certainly a dreary life for a normal youngster to be not permitted to be himself at home, school or in the schoolyard.

On the other hand, it is equally important that children with active rheumatic fever be placed under medical treatment at once, either in private hospitals, at home or in clinics.

Even children born with heart defects face a far brighter future today than as few as ten years ago.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Some of the most vital congressional debates never get into the headlines. All last week, a debate affecting the pocketbook of every adult in the nation took place between conferees from the Senate and House over taxes. Newsmen and the public were not admitted.

The chief debaters were two distinguished and highly respected gentlemen from the South—Sen. Walter F. George of Georgia and Rep. Bob Dougton of North Carolina. In many respects they are similar, but on taxes they vigorously disagree.

Both are elderly—George 73 and Doughton 86. Both have served in Congress for a large part of the 20th century—George for 20 years, Doughton 40 years. Both come from rural back grounds, though George of late has numbered some of the nation's captains of high finance among his friends.

Doughton, despite his age, has long been the first congressman to get to work in the morning. He used to open his office at 5:30 a. m. but after passing his 80th birthday, he compromised by getting to work at 6 a. m. Down in North Carolina, Doughton used to ride a big white mule through the mountains visiting constituents, which gave him the nickname "Muley Bob."

In the recent closed-door tax debates, Senator George probably has thought that Dougton was mulish in more ways than one, for Muley Bob has been his most stubborn opponent in trying to plug the loopholes in the Senate's so-called "millionaires" tax bill.

'Cuts! Cuts! Cut!'

"All of the Senate amendments are for tax relief in one form or another," grumbled the big North Carolinian at one stormy committee session, "Cuts!—Cuts!—Cuts!"

"The President asked us for sixteen billions in new taxes to balance the budget," Doughton continued, aiming his remarks directly at Senator George, "but the House cut this down to ten billion and finally to $7.2 billion. You can't reduce it any more without ruining our economy. How in the world the Senate arrived at the conclusion that we can get by with only $5.4 billion of new taxes is beyond me."

"The Senate figure of $5.4 billion is the maximum our economy can stand," argued Senator George. "If you tax business any more you will curtail production and destroy the incentive of free enterprise."

"Cuts! — Cuts — Cuts!" roared Doughton. "That's the only language you fellows know."

Rep. John Dingell of Detroit supported Doughton.

"For every dollar the Senate bill saves in new taxes, we will lose ten dollars in the resulting depreciation of our currency," Dingell argued.

"Taxes don't hurt the people when their dollars have a high purchasing power," continued the Detroiter. "It's when their dollars depreciate that they feel the tax pinch worst. Yet this Senate bill would create more inflation by deficit spending and adding to the national debt. For we'll simply have to borrow money to meet expenses instead of raising it by taxes.

"I hear a lot of these big corporation directors say that they hate communism, but they apparently don't hate it enough to cough up some extra taxes to keep our government solvent."

Neither Doughton nor Dingell, however, could move George. He told the House conferees in effect that they could argue until they were blue in the face without changing his position.

"I want to say furthermore," the senator added with an icy glare at Doughton, "that this is the last tax bill I'll bring in unless we get into an all-out war."

Note—Actually it is the duty of the House of Representatives to initiate or "bring in" tax legislation. The Senate passes on the tax bill after the House adopts it. George, as chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, can exercise powerful influence over any tax bill, but it's doubtful if he could block one altogether.

Taft Vs. Eisenhower

Taft Maneuvers — A secret strategy meeting of Taft-for-president leaders was held in Washington last Thursday night. Present was John Hamilton, the Kansas-born GOP chairman for Alf Landon who now works for oilman Joe Pew in Philadelphia; also Taft's cousin, Dave Ingalls, who was assistant secretary of war in the Hoover administration.

Ingalls, who has been scouring the 48 states for Taft delegates, reported to the meeting that if the convention were held today, Taft would pull 500 of the 600 GOP delegates.

Other present were more conservative, estimated Taft's strength nearer 350. Ingalls also announced that the only threat to Taft was Eisenhower, but that GOP leaders figure he will not make a sufficient aggressive fight to get nominated.

Note—During the session, machine-manufacturer Tom Coleman, chief Taft leader in Wisconsin, telephoned, GOP national committeeman and head of Union Refrigerator Cars, to sign the Taft pledge, but Phillips finally did so to support John Hamilton.

Eisenhower Maneuvers—Anti-Taft forces, fully sensing the danger that Taft will definitely pledge GOP leaders before they know whether Eisenhower is available, have now decided to take the bit in their teeth.

They will put out an announcement fairly soon that Sen. James Duff of Pennsylvania will head the Eisenhower forces. Following this, they expect to get a personal statement from the general around Christmas time, possibly before. He will state that he will be available for the GOP nomination.

Reason for the early appointment of Jim Duff as Eisenhower leader is the current hemming-and-hawing among the general's supporters. As between genial ex-Senator Harry Darby of Kansas, Governor Tom Dewey, and Senator Duff, no one has known who was boss.

We agreed that it was proper for the Department of Defense to withhold military secrets, in instances where disclosure would adversely affect national security. But we suggested that it was an entirely different matter to give to the top officials of all government agencies the discretion to determine how much and what of the public's business should be disclosed to the public. We contended that this would lead, too often, to the with-holding of information which had no bearing on national security.

"We suggested that if the government was going ahead with the project, the executive order at least should define 'security information,' and should set up a central appeal board to pass upon the rulings of various government officials."

When the meeting was over, the committee was told that it could submit further recommendations but that action was going to be taken anyhow in two days, so the committee wrote a letter reiterating its objections and adding a declaration of opposition to the order on the ground that each head of a government agency should not be given authority to classify information "without definition of what breaches national security and without appeal or review."

On July 27 the White House notified the editors that the National Security Council had approved the order, and on September 25 it was issued. The committee, in its report to the American Society of Newspaper Editors, now says:

"The executive order which the President issued September 25 does not differ in any important essentials from the tentative draft we saw on July 10."

So Secretary Sawyer's idea that the editors and publishers could be helpful on this delicate problem is meritorious to the extent that the editors tried out his suggestion last July only to find that a presumably omniscient President firmly rejected the advice of those with experience and proceeded in a press conference instead to accuse them of a lack of patriotism. That's hardly the way to solve problems in a country which boasts of its guarantees of freedom of information.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Cincinnati, Oct. 9—I am a Republican. I note with suspicion that the New York Times, the Washington Post, China-boy Luce, Thomas E. Dewey and a half-dozen morose bores of Washington journalism who constantly berate us anti-Communists for exposing their heroes, are trying to nominate a candidate for my party.

They are trying to give us Eisenhower.

Why are they so good to us? They don't like our party and they want to re-elect Harry Truman, so why do they keep telling us that Ike is our only chance?

It comes to me that they are trying to plant Ike on us, realizing that, in a free-style, rough-tumble election, Truman would take all the fight out of Ike and chase him bow-legged.

All, that is, except Dewey. Dewey is a confusion. We gave him two nominations and both times he let us down. In the first one, he tried to win the support of the pro-Communist Sidney Hillman who was in Roosevelt's debt and also in his vest pocket, and the support of other professional union mobsters by a fatuous, untrue statement that the Wagner Act and the Communist-controlled Labor Relations Board were now accepted institutions and were no longer in controversy.

In the same futile, pathetic and insincere mood he endorsed a state fair employment practise act as a sop to organized forces which hate our constitution because it protects real Americans from European socialism and statism. Dewey knew that the state had absolutely no right to step in and say I can't hire a man of my own race or religion on grounds of racial and religious preference. Of course I can, every American has the right to this preference.

Senator Taft was coming along and showing integrity where Tom showed littleness. Willkie ditched Dewey in 1940 but he also ditched Taft. Now Taft has been deferred three times, once for Willkie and twice for Dewey. But instead of turning to and trying to elect a man head and shoulders better than he is in character, integrity and political courage, Dewey is trying to ditch Taft again out of jealousy.

Truman is a snarling fighter. The only repartee that he understands is a kick in the pelvis, a criminal coup with which he threatened a music critic, a pat on the skull with a sawed-off poolcue and a volley of bottles and brass gobboons. He has no more manners than any Kansas City back-room bum and no more respect for the office of President than Roosevelt had or Elliott or Jimmy.

The tip-off on his character came at a special session of Congress soon after the 1948 convention. He called it for the purpose of degrading the legislative arm by converting this meeting into an occasion for the opening speech of his campaign. It was a scurrilous speech, delivered with that snarl which became familiar to the nation in the ensuing months. Even the Democrats, with few exceptions, refused him as much as a perfunctory cheer as he went back up the aisle when he was done.

Why does anyone think Ike could out-scuffle this uninhabited street-sparrow with no holds barred?

The truth is nobody does among this pack of saboteurs, not even Dewey. Truman would wipe that smile off Eisenhower's face in ten days and cut him to pieces with dirty cracks about his own guilt in the creation of the ghastly mess in Europe and the English babe who wrote that she just sort of oozed into his household and became his solace and chauffeur and later his secretary.

Oozed-in, hell! The British counter-intelligence planted her on him to put him over a barrel whether the dame knew it or not.

The New York Times is a Democratic paper. Why is the Times so diligent to pick Ike for

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

Renewed interest in the stock market is plain to see, as the trading activity on the Stock Exchange increases.

When it appears that the public is becoming active in Wall Street those of us who are contrary-minded commence to ponder the question that is on many lips: "How much longer is the bull market going to last?"

This question always leads to a second: "How high is high?"

From a fairly long association with, and observation of, doings in Wall street the Ruminator has never been able to find a satisfactory answer to either of these questions, both of which bob up every time the stock market has a prolonged rise.

There is no measurement of "time" that I know of, and there is no yard-stick to hold up that shows a market is too high (or too low).

The stock market was "too high" in 1928—and went much higher; it was "too low" in late 1931, but went much lower in the summer of '32.

Many observers say the market is too high now, because it is higher than at any time since 1930 (as measured, for instance, by the Dow-Jones Industrial Average). Obviously, there is no relationship between "now and then" except insofar as such a comparison emphasizes that stock prices have enjoyed a substantial rise.

When you turn to fundamental business statistics for a guide, you find that dividends and yields are also high, and that profits have not shrunk very seriously in the past few months and are likely to fare well even under the impact of heavier taxes. The "fear of the dollar" is still a weight in many an investor's heart. Yes, those who do not think the market is "too high" can find many plausible reasons for their bullishness.

The bears, too, can give you reasons why they think prices will have to fall soon. Profits will fade away, they think, and taxes will cripple business.

In consequence of all the arguments pro and con one is hard put to arrive at any definite conclusion concerning today's stock prices by the use of ordinary measuring devices.

Suppose, then, we turn to "public psychology" to see if we can arrive at any helpful hints.

History demonstrates the "public is wrong"—but it should be pointed out that the public is also right a good deal of the time. While the public has gone wrong in the past, and doubtless will in the future, it is in the late stages of market movements; that is to say, near and at the "tops" and "bottoms." The public is usually right during the long trends upward, but where it goes wrong is in its tendency to get more bullish as prices rise, and conversely to become more bearish as prices fall. Thus, when the final top area is reached the public is "wrong" in that people expect prices to continue to advance as they have been advancing. When the final blow-off occurs the public is heavily in the market and does not get out.

Is the public in heavily now? That question might help us to determine what lies ahead.

The Ruminator judges that, while the public has been coming into the market more and more in recent months, there has not been yet a headlong rush on the part of the trading public. At the same time, there has been a tremendous amount of caution talk and outright bearishness among writers and commentators and advisers.

There does not appear to be a universal feeling that the market will continue to go up. Indeed, as mentioned, there are many onlookers and traders who expect prices to fall. One concrete evidence of this is the large number of people who are "short" of the market. (Short-sellers expect prices to fall whereby they will profit from their short sales when they later "cover" by buying in the stocks they sold. To sell short one has to borrow stocks, and to repay the borrowed shares he buys them in later. A little too technical to explain in a few words.)

So long as a fair proportion of people and advisers expect the stock market to tumble, it is doubtful that it will meet their expectations. Seldom does the market do what is expected.

It looks, therefore, as if the bull market may carry on until more people think it will! When "everybody" gets into the frame of mind that prices have much higher to go and when speculation becomes more pronounced than it is now then the "contrary opinion" will suggest strongly that prices are at last "too high."

Two Are Sentenced

Hartford, Conn., Oct. 10 (AP)—Two soldiers were sentenced to state's prison yesterday for hold-ups in which a woman was slugged with a bottle and another was shot and wounded. The accused, Robert Beers, 21, of Hollis, and Joseph A. Taschner, 20, of Farmington, pleaded guilty in Superior Court to charges of robbery with violence. Judge Edward J. Quinlan sentenced them for three to eight years. The youths, police said, were absent without official leave (AWOL) from Camp Atterbury, Ind., when they were captured on July 28. They held up a snack bar in Avon on that day, wounding Mrs. Adella Brown. A week earlier, they held up a Plainville liquor store, Mrs. Marietta Piergrosso was the victim of the bottle attack in that holdup.

Says He'll Get Divorce

Cairo, Egypt, Oct. 10 (AP)—Sheppard King, the Texas oil heir, says he has things all fixed up with his wife for a second divorce so he can wed Egyptian dancer Samia Gamal. The 26-year-old Texas redhead confirmed last night he had secretly remarried his divorced wife, Gloria, in Dallas last June but said he is leaving for Texas soon to divorce her again. He said he and Gloria didn't get along well during either marriage and he had arranged with her to start a divorce action in Houston about Oct. 20.

Study Your Partner, Then Start Bidding

BY OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

If you happen to be a much better bridge player than your partner it is sometimes wise to make slight alterations in your bidding style. It often pays to bid a major suit or no-trump early rather than late to make sure of being declarer rather than dummy.

In the hand shown today, for example, South's "proper" response is two clubs rather than one spade. Since South was an expert and his partner was a rather weak player, South bid in such a way as to become declarer at either spades or no-trump—the two most likely spots in which to make a game.

Everything turned out quite well—since South really was an expert. Otherwise he might not have made his game contract, and the point of his bidding would have been lost. After all, there's nothing to be gained from distorting the bidding unless you're good enough to develop just about every possible trick in the play.

West opened the five of diamond, and declarer took dummy's ace and queen. He next led a low spade to his king, discovering the bad news when West discarded a diamond.

Declarer continued with a low heart. West put up the ace and returned a third diamond, hoping his partner could ruff. East had to follow suit, however, and South won with the king of diamonds, discarding a club from dummy.

At this point South could be sure of three diamonds, a heart and a club in side winners. He needed a total of five trump tricks, or three low trumps in addition to the ace and king.

South took the ace of clubs, ruffed a club in dummy, cashed the king of hearts, and ruffed a heart in his own hand. Only one more low trump was needed, so declarer led another club and ruffed with dummy's ace. East discarded his last heart on this trick.

Declarer now led another heart from dummy towards his 10-3 of trump. East had to ruff with the jack to shut South out. Having done so, however, there was no way for him to prevent the ten of trumps from winning declarer's vital tenth trick.

Thruway Consultants Offer Fees to Pay For Big Highway

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 10 (AP)—A system of user fees that could pay for the $500,000,000 State Thruway in 25 years was proposed today by the Thruway Authority's private consulting engineers.

Madigan-Hyland Engineers of New York city recommended the use of toll gates and these fee schedules for the 535-mile superhighway scheduled for completion in 1954:

1. A $10-a-year permit for New York state-registered passenger cars only, entitling them to unlimited use of the Thruway, except for a 25-cent toll on the proposed Nyack-Tarrytown bridge.

2. A one-cent-a-mile rate for all out-of-state passenger cars and those New York state cars whose owners would find it cheaper for occasional use of the highway than the annual permit fee.

3. An average 3.3-cents-a-mile rate for all heavy trucks (18,000 pounds or more) and one-cent-a-mile for light trucks (less than 18,000 pounds).

4. An average 3.5-cents-a-mile fee for all buses.

The truck and bus fees would be computed on the basis of the vehicles' weight.

The Nyack-Tarrytown bridge fee would be 50 cents for non-permit users of the cross-state Expressway, which will extend from New York city to Albany and west to Buffalo and the Pennsylvania state line.

Engineers' Recommendation

A Thruway Authority spokesman emphasized that the fee schedule was a recommendation by the consulting engineers, based on traffic studies, and that the three-member Thruway Authority had not yet passed judgment on the proposal.

The Madigan-Hyland plan involves the use of toll stations.

Collection of the non-permit fees on the main upstate section would be made through an "interchange control system" similar to that used on the Pennsylvania Turnpike, the engineers' report said.

"The interchange system proposed for the Thruway involves the complete control of every entrance and exit along the (main) route," the report said. ". . . The entire Thruway system will have a total of 94 interchange points, of which 54 will be controlled and 40 will be without control."

Most of the 40 uncontrolled interchange points would be on the southern end of the main thruway in Rockland and Westchester counties and on the Niagara and New England spurs.

Barrier Station Fees

Because the use of toll stations at all of the numerous interchanges in these heavily-populated areas would entail great maintenance expense and slow up traffic, Madigan-Hyland proposed a flat 10-cent toll to be collected at barrier-stations on them.

The heavy volume of commuter traffic, they contend, would offset any apparent loss in revenue by abandoning the cent-a-mile rate for the 10-cent fee in those places.

Under this plan, motorists could use short sections of the thruway free, moving over it from one uncontrolled interchange to another.

Madigan-Hyland proposed a flat 25-cent fee for use of the bridge that will carry the Berkshire spur, from Albany to the Massachusetts line, over the Hudson river.

The interchange system proposed by the engineers would be evolved "so that all traffic is funneled through collection lanes located entirely off the main road."

"As each vehicle enters the thruway," the report said, "it passes an interchange control booth and receives a punch card ticket showing the point of entry...

"The vehicle then proceeds on its thruway trip until it reaches its point of exit...

"The collector at the exit point collects the proper fee...or other evidence of the right to passage."

Trucks using the thruway will not be subject to the state's new weight-distance tax on big trucks (18,000 pounds and over).

Teen-Age Girls Return From South

Two girls, one 15 and the other 16 years old, reported missing from their homes since Monday were back with their families early today after apparently having taken a trip to Maryland.

Local police were notified by the mother of one girl at 11 a. m., yesterday and the other mother gave police headquarters a description of her daughter yesterday afternoon. Then police were informed by one mother that her daughter had called her from Spring Valley, where, she said, she and her friend were stranded "on their way back home after traveling to Maryland."

The police report said that the teen-agers had been seen getting into a car Monday and a license number was given for investigation. The mother of one of the girls notified police early today that they had returned home.

Police Chief Raymond Van Buren said the teen-agers would be questioned later today to learn details and circumstances concerning their trip to Maryland and to determine whether police action is necessary.

Simmons Says Wife Is Missing

Carl Simmons, 118 Glen street, reported to the local police at 6:35 a. m. today that his wife, Elsie, 19, left the house for the uptown area last night and had not returned home.

Simmons, who said his wife had been employed as a cashier at Reade's Kingston Theatre since the strike of employes was in effect there, informed police that she had left the house to go to a dry cleaner's establishment.

Mrs. Simmons, mother of a girl, Mary Ella, 3, and a five-months-old infant, Carol Anne, her husband said, left home in a taxi cab, and he said he learned today that she got out of the cab at Whelan's Drug store on Wall street.

Simmons said his wife is about five feet, three inches tall, weighs between 145 and 150 pounds, and was dressed in a dark brown plaid skirt, white sweater and loafers.

Mrs. Simmons' parents were contacted at Saugerties, but had not heard from her, the police report said. Her husband's mother, who lives at 152 Glen street said the girl left home between 5:30 and 6 p. m.

UN Records Cause

says, however, that it was recommended to Mr. Truman by the National Security Council and his military advisers.

The diary excerpt did not mention Jessup as being present, nor did it say what Acheson's view was. He was a member of the Security Council.

'Crystal Clear' Memory

When he was before the Foreign Relations sumcommittee Monday, Stassen insisted his memory was "crystal clear" on Vandenberg telling him Jessup attended the conference. He said Vandenberg wouldn't have told him "if it wasn't true," and that he saw no reason to change his testimony despite Jessup's denial.

The issue, Stassen declared, went to "the heart of the veracity of Mr. Jessup."

Against that background, Austin sent a telegram to the State Department saying that "official records of the U. S. delegation to the United Nations show that Ambassador Jessup was conveyed in one of our vehicles from our office at 2 Park avenue (in New York) to Columbia University between 10:30 and 11 a. m. on Feb. 5, 1949, ***."

In releasing the Austin telegram, State Department spokesman Michael J. McDermott told reporters the White House meeting Stassen made a point of was held at 11 a. m. Feb. 5, 1949. The Vandenberg diary also says the conference was scheduled at that hour.

However, Senator Brewster (R.-Me.), also a member of the subcommittee, dismissed Austin's material as of minor importance.

"The big issue, the key issue is not whether Jessup attended the conference," Brewster said, "but what role if any he played in formulation of the proposal to shut off American aid to the Nationalist government of China at a time when it was fighting for its life against the Chinese Communists.

Counter Petitions Slated For Bus Hearing Thursday

Two bus petitions involving service by the Kingston City Transportation Corporation will be heard Thursday morning before Commissioner O'Brien of the Public Service Commission.

One petition at 10 o'clock will be that for extension of bus service in the Third Ward.

The second hearing will be at 10:45 o'clock and is on the application of the bus company to discontinue its franchise.

At a hearing on July 20 on the petition for extension of service in the Fourth Ward, Senator Pliny W. Williamson, counsel for the bus company, announced that the company was carrying fewer passengers and had lost $12,000 in the previous eight months period.

During the hearing he announced that he had been retained by the bus company to draw up an application to discontinue the service and surrender the franchise. He stated he had the petition for surrender of the franchise prepared and hinted at that time the application was soon forthcoming.

Later the application was made to the Public Service Commission to surrender the franchise, as reported in an account in The Freeman in July.

C. of C. Takes Action

The Kingston Chamber of Commerce will be represented at the Public Service Commission hearing at the court house tomorrow.

At a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce board of directors held Tuesday night, a formal statement was approved, which will be presented at the hearing.

The Chamber will be represented by President Lawrence J. MacAvery, Frederick A. Gibbs, chairman of the Traffic and Transportation Committee and Executive Secretary Albert Kurdt.

They also urge that a large delegation of affected persons attend the hearing at 10:45 Thursday at the court house.

Corporation Counsel James G. Connelly will appear in opposition to the application on behalf of the City of Kingston. Other interests will also be represented.

To Form Committees

At the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce directors last evening the need for active governmental affairs committees was discussed and it was decided to establish such committees at the meeting to be held in November. The establishment of three different committees was favored; one dealing with local governmental affairs and another with State affairs and a third with national affairs.

The first step in the establishment of the state governmental affairs committee will be attendance at an important conference in Albany on October 18 and 19. At this conference, arranged by the Empire State Association of Commerce, the top leaders in state, county, city and town governments will be present to discuss their problems. In commenting on the Albany conference, President MacAvery urged that as many chamber members as possible attend. Reservations and arrangements for transportation can be made by calling the Chamber of Commerce office. The second step in the establishment of the governmental affairs committees will be attendance at a National Affairs Conference in Poughkeepsie on November 8.

Harry Rigby, Jr., was appointed chairman of the annual banquet committee. Other members of the committee are: B. C. Anderson, Deweese DeWitt, William Ewing, Stuart Randall, and Allen B. Tobias.

451 Active Members

It was reported that the Chamber of Commerce now has 451 active members on its rolls. Four new membership applications were approved. They were Dr. John Cooke, Jr., Martin & Moran, Scott's, and Dr. Gilbert Hoppenstedt. Five memberships were canceled at the meeting. Of the 451 active members on the rolls the annual dues of 23 are now past due.

Directors present were: B. C. Anderson, Chester A. Baltz, Jr., Emil G. Boessneck, L. V. Bogert, Pratt Boice, James P. Byrne, Eugene B. Carey, Joseph F. Deegan, Lawrence J. MacAvery, Maynard Mizel, Lawrence A. Quilty, Victor Roth, Elmer Rylance, and Executive Secretary Albert Kurdt.

The second activity in its youth program will be held by Kingston Lodge, 550, B.P.O. Elks at the clubhouse on Fair street, Monday evening, Oct. 15 in the form of a supper for members of the Kingston Boys Club.

Announcement of the event was made today by Exalted Ruler John J. Schwalbach, who was certain that the occasion would be as successful as the recent teen-age dance that drew approximately 450 high school students to the club.

The supper will start at 6 p. m. under direction of Alderman at Large Joe Kelly who is chairman of the Elks' youth program for the year.

"We expect a large turnout at the supper," Schwalbach said, "and promise that all who attend will be given a good time by the Elks."

300 Attend GOP Women's Party

More than 300 persons crowded the Crystal Room of the Governor Clinton Hotel last night for the Ulster County Republican Women's Club card party, according to Mrs. John B. Sterley, chairman.

State Senator Arthur H. Wicks, introduced by County Attorney Fred Stang urged, during his address, those attending to vote "yes" on the fourth amendment November 6. The amendment, he said, will enable the state to complete the Buffalo to New York Thruway which, in addition to being a "great asset" to passenger travel, and a valuable military highway will, Senator Wicks pointed out, reduce transportation costs on consumer goods, including milk to the metropolitan area.

Mrs. Parker Brinnier, president of the club, greeted the guests and introduced Attorney Stang, who in turn introduced the following Republican candidates for office: Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk; Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly; Albert Cook, for supervisor of the First Ward; Robert Cousins for supervisor of the Second Ward; Mrs. Georgia Van De Mark for supervisor of the 13th Ward; James Roe, for supervisor of the 10th Ward, and County Clerk Harry Sutton.

At the close of the party, Mrs. Sterley thanked Kingston merchants who helped make the party a success, and her committee which served refreshments.

High I.Q. for Troops

Heidelberg, Germany (AP)—The intelligence average of American troops in Germany is going up. Reason: The draft. Officers in the U. S. Army's European Command headquarters here say Army intelligence averages go up every time there is a military draft. "With the draft, we get the extremely brilliant persons, as well as the average or slightly below average," one officer explained. "These 'brilliant' persons usually do not enlist in the army as a private."

Teen-Age Girls Return From South

Two girls, one 15 and the other 16 years old, reported missing from their homes since Monday were back with their families early today after apparently having taken a trip to Maryland.

Local police were notified by the mother of one girl at 11 a. m., yesterday and the other mother gave police headquarters a description of her daughter yesterday afternoon. Then police were informed by one mother that her daughter had called her from Spring Valley, where, she said, she and her friend were stranded "on their way back home after traveling to Maryland."

The police report said that the teen-agers had been seen getting into a car Monday and a license number was given for investigation. The mother of one of the girls notified police early today that they had returned home.

Police Chief Raymond Van Buren said the teen-agers would be questioned later today to learn details and circumstances concerning their trip to Maryland and to determine whether police action is necessary.

Simmons Says Wife Is Missing

Carl Simmons, 118 Glen street, reported to the local police at 6:35 a. m. today that his wife, Elsie, 19, left the house for the uptown area last night and had not returned home.

Simmons, who said his wife had been employed as a cashier at Reade's Kingston Theatre since the strike of employes was in effect there, informed police that she had left the house to go to a dry cleaner's establishment.

Mrs. Simmons, mother of a girl, Mary Ella, 3, and a five-months-old infant, Carol Anne, her husband said, left home in a taxi cab, and he said he learned today that she got out of the cab at Whelan's Drug store on Wall street.

Simmons said his wife is about five feet, three inches tall, weighs between 145 and 150 pounds, and was dressed in a dark brown plaid skirt, white sweater and loafers.

Mrs. Simmons' parents were contacted at Saugerties, but had not heard from her, the police report said. Her husband's mother, who lives at 152 Glen street said the girl left home between 5:30 and 6 p. m.

UN Records Cause

The diary excerpt did not mention Jessup as being present, nor did it say what Acheson's view was. He was a member of the Security Council.

'Crystal Clear' Memory

When he was before the Foreign Relations sumcommittee Monday, Stassen insisted his memory was "crystal clear" on Vandenberg telling him Jessup attended the conference. He said Vandenberg wouldn't have told him "if it wasn't true," and that he saw no reason to change his testimony despite Jessup's denial.

The issue, Stassen declared, went to "the heart of the veracity of Mr. Jessup."

Against that background, Austin sent a telegram to the State Department saying that "official records of the U. S. delegation to the United Nations show that Ambassador Jessup was conveyed in one of our vehicles from our office at 2 Park avenue (in New York) to Columbia University between 10:30 and 11 a. m. on Feb. 5, 1949, ***."

In releasing the Austin telegram, State Department spokesman Michael J. McDermott told reporters the White House meeting Stassen made a point of was held at 11 a. m. Feb. 5, 1949. The Vandenberg diary also says the conference was scheduled at that hour.

However, Senator Brewster (R.-Me.), also a member of the subcommittee, dismissed Austin's material as of minor importance.

"The big issue, the key issue is not whether Jessup attended the conference," Brewster said, "but what role if any he played in formulation of the proposal to shut off American aid to the Nationalist government of China at a time when it was fighting for its life against the Chinese Communists.

Counter Petitions Slated For Bus Hearing Thursday

Two bus petitions involving service by the Kingston City Transportation Corporation will be heard Thursday morning before Commissioner O'Brien of the Public Service Commission.

One petition at 10 o'clock will be that for extension of bus service in the Third Ward.

The second hearing will be at 10:45 o'clock and is on the application of the bus company to discontinue its franchise.

At a hearing on July 20 on the petition for extension of service in the Fourth Ward, Senator Pliny W. Williamson, counsel for the bus company, announced that the company was carrying fewer passengers and had lost $12,000 in the previous eight months period.

During the hearing he announced that he had been retained by the bus company to draw up an application to discontinue the service and surrender the franchise. He stated he had the petition for surrender of the franchise prepared and hinted at that time the application was soon forthcoming.

Later the application was made to the Public Service Commission to surrender the franchise, as reported in an account in The Freeman in July.

C. of C. Takes Action

The Kingston Chamber of Commerce will be represented at the Public Service Commission hearing at the court house tomorrow.

At a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce board of directors held Tuesday night, a formal statement was approved, which will be presented at the hearing.

The Chamber will be represented by President Lawrence J. MacAvery, Frederick A. Gibbs, chairman of the Traffic and Transportation Committee and Executive Secretary Albert Kurdt.

They also urge that a large delegation of affected persons attend the hearing at 10:45 Thursday at the court house.

Corporation Counsel James G. Connelly will appear in opposition to the application on behalf of the City of Kingston. Other interests will also be represented.

To Form Committees

At the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce directors last evening the need for active governmental affairs committees was discussed and it was decided to establish such committees at the meeting to be held in November. The establishment of three different committees was favored; one dealing with local governmental affairs and another with State affairs and a third with national affairs.

The first step in the establishment of the state governmental affairs committee will be attendance at an important conference in Albany on October 18 and 19. At this conference, arranged by the Empire State Association of Commerce, the top leaders in state, county, city and town governments will be present to discuss their problems. In commenting on the Albany conference, President MacAvery urged that as many chamber members as possible attend. Reservations and arrangements for transportation can be made by calling the Chamber of Commerce office. The second step in the establishment of the governmental affairs committees will be attendance at a National Affairs Conference in Poughkeepsie on November 8.

Harry Rigby, Jr., was appointed chairman of the annual banquet committee. Other members of the committee are: B. C. Anderson, Deweese DeWitt, William Ewing, Stuart Randall, and Allen B. Tobias.

451 Active Members

It was reported that the Chamber of Commerce now has 451 active members on its rolls. Four new membership applications were approved. They were Dr. John Cooke, Jr., Martin & Moran, Scott's, and Dr. Gilbert Hoppenstedt. Five memberships were canceled at the meeting. Of the 451 active members on the rolls the annual dues of 23 are now past due.

Directors present were: B. C. Anderson, Chester A. Baltz, Jr., Emil G. Boessneck, L. V. Bogert, Pratt Boice, James P. Byrne, Eugene B. Carey, Joseph F. Deegan, Lawrence J. MacAvery, Maynard Mizel, Lawrence A. Quilty, Victor Roth, Elmer Rylance, and Executive Secretary Albert Kurdt.

State police from the Lake Katrine barracks and the sheriff's office were notified of the accident. State police arrived at the scene first and Corporal Herron reported Mrs. Pagliaroni told them she was proceeding east when she was blinded by headlights approaching. She applied the brake, the car skidded on the pavement and turned around twice, then went off the road to the left and overturned in a field. The car was badly damaged. She was the only occupant of the car at the time of the accident which took place about 10 p. m.

The second activity in its youth program will be held by Kingston Lodge, 550, B.P.O. Elks at the clubhouse on Fair street, Monday evening, Oct. 15 in the form of a supper for members of the Kingston Boys Club.

Announcement of the event was made today by Exalted Ruler John J. Schwalbach, who was certain that the occasion would be as successful as the recent teen-age dance that drew approximately 450 high school students to the club.

The supper will start at 6 p. m. under direction of Alderman at Large Joe Kelly who is chairman of the Elks' youth program for the year.

"We expect a large turnout at the supper," Schwalbach said, "and promise that all who attend will be given a good time by the Elks."

300 Attend GOP Women's Party

More than 300 persons crowded the Crystal Room of the Governor Clinton Hotel last night for the Ulster County Republican Women's Club card party, according to Mrs. John B. Sterley, chairman.

State Senator Arthur H. Wicks, introduced by County Attorney Fred Stang urged, during his address, those attending to vote "yes" on the fourth amendment November 6. The amendment, he said, will enable the state to complete the Buffalo to New York Thruway which, in addition to being a "great asset" to passenger travel, and a valuable military highway will, Senator Wicks pointed out, reduce transportation costs on consumer goods, including milk to the metropolitan area.

Mrs. Parker Brinnier, president of the club, greeted the guests and introduced Attorney Stang, who in turn introduced the following Republican candidates for office: Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk; Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly; Albert Cook, for supervisor of the First Ward; Robert Cousins for supervisor of the Second Ward; Mrs. Georgia Van De Mark for supervisor of the 13th Ward; James Roe, for supervisor of the 10th Ward, and County Clerk Harry Sutton.

At the close of the party, Mrs. Sterley thanked Kingston merchants who helped make the party a success, and her committee which served refreshments.

American Is Held By Swiss as Spy For Joe McCarthy

Geneva, Oct. 10 (AP)—A tubercular young American Negro is to be tried in the Federal Swiss Criminal Court on charges of political spying in behalf of Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R.-Wis.).

The Swiss government has accused Charles E. Davis, 24, of Pasadena, Calif., of violating Swiss sovereignty by allegedly gathering information about John Carter Vincent, U. S. minister to Switzerland until his transfer last February, and supplying it to McCarthy.

Davis also was charged with leaving his landlady with a bill for more than $100 for telephone calls to the United States.

His trial is scheduled to begin at Lausanne next Monday.

Davis was arrested by Swiss authorities last November and for the past several months has been treated in a Geneva tuberculosis hospital, where he has been kept in the prison ward.

Davis told U. S. consulate officials here that he was a correspondent for a Communist newspaper in California.

Attacks Vincent

McCarthy repeatedly has attacked Vincent with assertions he followed the Communist line, particularly when the State Department sent him to China during the war.

Vincent, transferred to the consular-general in Tangier eight months ago, stated when he was moved that "I can't fight back because of financial considerations, but I could fight back on moral grounds."

The charge said Davis had written to McCarthy offering information.

McCarthy said last February Davis had written him that he had "a lot information about Communists." The senator said he gave the FBI some information voluntarily supplied by Davis and had an investigator meet Davis in Paris.

Punishable, Say Swiss

"In observing the actions and movements of persons in Switzerland, and informing foreign agents of findings and deductions, Davis maintained a political intelligence service punishable by law," said the "acte d'accusation."

"In supplying information to Senator McCarthy, he was acting in the interests of a foreign intelligence service. McCarthy, a spokesman or representative of the opposition in the American Senate, seeks to collect information to confound the Truman administration and establish, if possible, a connivance between the diplomatic and consular corps of his country and the Communist world," it said, adding:

"Davis is accused of political espionage."

Truman Objects To Letter Written For Library Funds

St. Louis, Oct. 10 (AP)—A letter soliciting funds for a Harry S. Truman memorial library and mentioning the possibility of tax savings for those donating brought a sharp rejoinder from the White House.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch said Mr. Truman disassociated himself from the campaign and authorized this direct quotation:

"I didn't know anything about the letter, and if had known about it I would have stopped it from being sent."

The letter was drafted by Senator Anderson (D.-N.M.).

The newspaper said yesterday it had received a copy of the letter from a prominent and indignant Washington resident. It quoted the letter as saying business had a great opportunity to legally contribute tax free five per cent of its earnings.

At his home in Albuquerque, N. M., Anderson declared:

"I simply say the letter was not broadcast. It was sent to between 50 and 100 people that I thought were well known to be friends of the President and who couldn't be accused of buying influence by their contributions."

The Post-Dispatch listed Anderson as chairman of a finance committee formed to solicit funds for a $1,000,000 library to be built at Grandview, Mo., near the President's home town of Independence, Mo.

Grant and Lee met at Appomattox Court House, Va., on Palm Sunday 1865 to end the Civil War.

"In observing the actions and movements of persons in Switzerland, and informing foreign agents of findings and deductions, Davis maintained a political intelligence service punishable by law," said the "acte d'accusation."

"In supplying information to Senator McCarthy, he was acting in the interests of a foreign intelligence service. McCarthy, a spokesman or representative of the opposition in the American Senate, seeks to collect information to confound the Truman administration and establish, if possible, a connivance between the diplomatic and consular corps of his country and the Communist world," it said, adding:

"Davis is accused of political espionage."

Truman Objects To Letter Written For Library Funds

St. Louis, Oct. 10 (AP)—A letter soliciting funds for a Harry S. Truman memorial library and mentioning the possibility of tax savings for those donating brought a sharp rejoinder from the White House.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch said Mr. Truman disassociated himself from the campaign and authorized this direct quotation:

"I didn't know anything about the letter, and if had known about it I would have stopped it from being sent."

The letter was drafted by Senator Anderson (D.-N.M.).

The newspaper said yesterday it had received a copy of the letter from a prominent and indignant Washington resident. It quoted the letter as saying business had a great opportunity to legally contribute tax free five per cent of its earnings.

At his home in Albuquerque, N. M., Anderson declared:

"I simply say the letter was not broadcast. It was sent to between 50 and 100 people that I thought were well known to be friends of the President and who couldn't be accused of buying influence by their contributions."

The Post-Dispatch listed Anderson as chairman of a finance committee formed to solicit funds for a $1,000,000 library to be built at Grandview, Mo., near the President's home town of Independence, Mo.

Grant and Lee met at Appomattox Court House, Va., on Palm Sunday 1865 to end the Civil War.

The peace treaty for the War of 1812 was signed at Ghent, Belgium.

Twentieth Century Club Hears Two-Paper Program on Pigment, the American Indian

Members of the Twentieth Century Club, meeting Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Brandt in Hurley, heard a two-paper program on Pigment and The American Indian, delivered by Mrs. Raymond Woodard and Mrs. Maynard Mizel, respectively.

"Technically," Mrs. Woodard began, "pigment is any dry earthy or clayey substance, that when mixed with a liquid like oil or water, forms a paint. The term," she added, "is also extended to mixed ready-to-use paint. In biology, the word pigment is used in the sense of organic coloring matter: substances in the tissues of animals and plants giving them color."

She went on to explain that while most pigments are of mineral origin, there are vegetable pigments as logwood, which is handled commercially in the form of logs, chips and extracts, yielding rich violets, blues and blacks. Cochineal, made from the dried bodies of the female woodlouse, is an animal pigment. Various manufacturing processes yield a silvery gray, black or Castilian red pigment.

Most pigment colors today, Mrs. Woodard pointed out, are produced by dyeing clays which contain silicic acid with aniline dyestuffs. The clay is made into a paste, dried and powdered. Certain metallic oxides are added to the paste before the drying process. The powder is then heated in a furnace until the right shade is obtained.

Many Minerals Colorless

Mrs. Woodard explained that while many minerals used in pigment formulas are virtually colorless when blended they help bring out color through calcination. She then mentioned several "natural paints," as linionite, which varies from brown to yellow; ocher, umber and sienna oxides, which are produced chiefly in Georgia and Pennsylvania; hematite, which is "by far the most important of the ores of iron" and is largely obtained from the Lake Superior region; red ocher, which in its finest condition is deposited with silica to form such quartz as carnelian, sard and red bands of agate.

Quartz crystals, Mrs. Woodard told the group, are used in optical and electric equipment as well as porcelain, paint, sand paper, scouring soaps, and as a wood filter. Although they are distributed quite generously across the globe, the best examples are found in nearby Ellenville, Hot Springs, Ark., and Little Falls.

Mentions Foliage

At the close of her paper, Mrs. Woodard mentioned the two types of pigment in foliage: chlorophylls (green pigment), and carotinoids, (yellow or orange pigment). Chlorophyll, she said masks the carotinoids and the anthocyanins (red pigments). As the leaf begins to age, the conducting tissues become plugged, and the anthocyanins, which contain a high sugar componant, accumulate in large amounts. Warm days increase sugar production, while cold nights retard its transportation from the leaf. This phenomena accounts for fall coloring. Eventually both the red and yellow color disappears, leaving only the brownish tannins.

The First Americans

After describing the early Mongolian origins of the American Indian, and their spread through the North American continent, Mrs. Mizel turned to the Indian of today, whose life, for the most part, is on the reservation. When they were first placed on reservations, she said, sickness and death threatened to exterminate the race. Judging by modern standards of living, they were destitute.

Reservations, she told the group, were handled by "some political favorite from the east," who knew little of the Indians, or their problems on a reservation, in spite of the Department of Indian Affairs in Washington.

At first the agents put the Indians in log houses, furnished with stoves, beds and chairs. The death rate, with tuberculosis in the ascendancy, remained high. Finally doctors learned tubercular patients progress more rapidly in a tent, or out-of-doors, and the Indians were ordered to return to their tents.

"The statistics in some areas are almost incredible," Mrs. Maynard said. "Among the Navahos, tuberculosis kills at almost 10 times the national rate." . . . . Medical science has the answers, but Congress withholds the dollars to curb the disease originally given to the Indians by the white man. Indians are denied the public health services taken for granted by the rest of us."

Civilized, Not American

Mrs. Maynard described the Indians as predominately civilized, but not Americanized. They feel, she pointed out, superior to the white man.

The speaker then referred to an article in the May, 1951 edition of Time dealing with the education of Navajo children. The article stated: "Though some 12,000 Navajo children are in reservation schools . . . there are another 12,000 for whom there are no schools at all.

She quoted the May, 1951 issue of the DAR magazine as reading: "The Indians' chief grievance is against the government due to the fact that it exercises complete and absolute controls so that the only outlets for his social and political exertions are appeals and protests. . . . At no time has the government given enough aid to raise the Indian above the lowest level of poverty."

Today, she concluded, there are 140,000 members of the National Congress of American Indians, organized in Denver, Colo., in 1944. "The National Congress, with its fine leaders, has shown that capable leadership constitutes progress . . . that the first citizens of this nation should be recognized not as a vanishing race, but as a growing one advancing steadily upon the road of opportunity."

Miss Schermerhorn Becomes the Bride Of Gerald Hanley

Miss Shirley Mae Schermerhorn of 75 West Chester street, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Schermerhorn, became the bride of Gerald Hanley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hanley of Sleightsburg, Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The double ring ceremony was performed in the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church by the Rev. Frederick F. Fike, pastor of the First Church of the Nazarene, this city.

Traditional wedding selections were played by Miss Gertrude Donaldson, organist, while LeRoy Donaldson sang I Love You Truly, Because, and Saviour Like a Shepherd Lead Us. Palms were used to decorate the church.

Bernard Schermerhorn, Jr. gave his sister in marriage. Her bridal gown was made of net over satin, with an illusion neckline, long sleeves, a Chantilly lace bertha, and a lace-trimmed bouffant skirt. Her fingertip veil, trimmed with matching lace, was attached to a seed-pearl tiara, and she carried a colonial bouquet of white chrysanthemums tied with a white satin bow.

Miss Joan Lindhurst of this city as maid of honor, wore a gown of Nile green taffeta, and a matching tiara. She carried a bouquet of pink chrysanthemums.

The bridesmaids were the Misses Audrey MacDaniels, Rose Singer and Rosemary Hutton of this city, and Delores DePew of Ellenville, cousin of the groom. They were dressed in taffeta gowns and matching tiaras. Miss MacDaniels and Miss DePew wore pink and carried yellow chrysanthemums, while Miss Singer and Miss Hutton were dressed in yellow with bronze chrysanthemum bouquets.

Raymond Schermerhorn, brother of the bride, of Sussex, N. J. was best man. Ushering were Joseph Whitten, Accord; George Ronk, New Paltz; Don Shaver, Port Ewen, and Robert Cole, this city.

Following the ceremony a reception for approximately 100 guests was held at Epworth Hall, Clinton Avenue Church.

Mrs. Hanley selected a tan suit for her traveling ensemble, brown accessories, and a yellow rose corsage. Following a tour of the southern states, the couple will make their home in Haverstraw.

Mrs. Hanley attended Kingston High School. Her husband is a graduate of Kingston High School, and has served for a year with the U. S. Marine Corps.

Beta Sigma Phi Will Help Raise Day Nursery Funds

The 75th bi-monthly meeting of Gamma Chi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi was held Tuesday night at the YWCA at which time final plans were made for the annual autumn dance scheduled for Saturday night, October 20, at the Wiltwyck Golf Club.

During the meeting, Mrs. Albert Roosa, chairman, reported that a two-month old pedigreed Cocker Spaniel puppy will be auctioned by the sorority in conjunction with a drive to raise funds for the Volunteers of America Day Nursery.

Mrs. Roosa said the puppy will be shown Friday and Saturday on the court house lawn, Wall street, where members of the sorority will be on hand to assist with the project.

Last night's business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Roger G. Billings, president. Mrs. Stanley Matthews, social sponsor of the group, was a guest.

The program, Personality and Relationship Toward Others, was presented in the form of a skit by four members, Mrs. Frank Martino, Mrs. Edmund Holland, Mrs. Walter Hubbard and Mrs. Roosa.

Mrs. Martino, in reporting the final plans for the October 20 dance, said indications were that another large gathering would attend the function. Music for dancing will be furnished by Wendell "Speed" Scherer and his orchestra from 10 p. m. to 2 a. m.

Steady Stream Sees Home Bureau Rally At Auditorium Here

Ulster County Home Bureau exhibits set up in the municipal auditorium Monday were examined by a steady stream of visitors, the Home Bureau office has reported. Doors opened at noon, with an evening program at 8 o'clock.

Exhibits on display included various of this year's county program projects, including hooked rugs, beginners' sewing, cotton dress, fabric gloves, decorative stitchery, stuffed animals and dolls. Approximately 40 sewing screens made in the county during the past year were shown, and the bleachers were filled with displays by the various units also made during the past year.

The county chairman, Mrs. William Powers, presided at the evening program. Mrs. Frank Boudreau of New York and Woodstock spoke on the United Nations, while Miss Eulalie Steinmetz, superintendent of story telling from the New York Public Library, told of her trip to Ireland and England, and recited a story, The Lost Half Hour. Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk attended, and greeted the group.

Mrs. William Douglas, county vice chairman, reported that the county Home Bureau membership for 1951 was the highest in the organization's history. There was also group singing, accompanied by DiCosta Dawson.

Saugerties Church Scene of Nuptials For Alma B. Gaynor

St. Mary's Church, Saugerties was the scene Sunday, Sept. 30 of the marriage of Miss Alma Bernadette Gaynor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Owen F. Gaynor, 15 Elm street, Saugerties, to Milford Chester Beers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Beers, Market street, that village. Officiating clergyman was the Rev. Edmond T. Harty, pastor of that parish.

Mrs. William R. Johnston was organist, while Miss Ann Marie Vozdick sang On This Day O Beautiful Mother, Panis Angelicus, Ave Maria, and Mother Beloved.

Mr. Gaynor gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a gown of ivory Chantilly lace over satin, made with an off-shoulder neckline, an illusion yoke, fitted bodice, long sleeves and a full skirt, en train. A matching lace helmet with satin fluting and seed pearls secured her silk illusion fingertip veil, and she carried a cascade of gladioli florets with lilies of the valley and lace. Mrs. Frank Herbst, as her sister's honor attendant, wore shrimp nylon net and straw lace over matching taffeta, with matching mitts and a headpiece, and carried a cascade of Nile green pompon chrysanthemums with croton leaves.

Mrs. Harold Shaler and Miss Ann Imparato were bridesmaids. Their gowns were of brown Chantilly lace and net over blush-pink taffeta, with satin sashes and bouffant skirts circled with bands of satin. They wore satin helmets with pink veiling and carried autumn-colored pompons with croton leaves.

Chester O. Beers, brother of the groom, was best man. Peter Simon and Frank Herbst ushered.

Following a reception for 125 guests at Schoentag's Hotel, the couple left for a wedding trip to New York. The bride's going-away outfit included a navy blue suit and blue and white accessories. Upon their return, they will make their home at Latham.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Beers attended Saugerties High School. He served with the armed services during World War 2, and is now employed by the General Electric Corporation of Schenectady. Mrs. Beers is employed with the Department of Labor, Division of Placement and Unemployment.

Ulster Garden Club Has Annual Meeting

Yesterday, which in many places marked the height of the fall foliage, members of the Ulster Garden Club traveled through the Bushnellsville "notch" to the home of Mrs. Allan Hanstein for the club's annual meeting.

Following luncheon, members discussed plans for participation in the 300th anniversary celebration of the founding of Kingston, to be held in the spring, and elected new officers for the coming year.

They are: Mrs. Howard A. Lewis, president; Mrs. Richard E. Thibaut, Sr. of Woodstock, first vice-president; Miss Helen Sheldon, second vice-president; Mrs. Gerard Betz, third vice-president; Mrs. John W. Matthews, treasurer, and Mrs. William Hasbrouck of Stone Ridge, secretary.

New members named to the board of gardeners are Mrs. George V. D. Hutton, and Mrs. Charles Arnold.

The group will meet again in November with Mrs. Carl Preston, 86 Johnston avenue.

Nick Fox Addresses Little Gardens Club

Nick Fox of Woodstock addressed members of the Little Gardens Club Saturday, when they met with Mrs. John D. Groves at her home in West Hurley.

In opening, Mr. Fox explained that all Dutch bulbs are supervised by the Dutch government, and are measured purely by size. If slides are made from a bulb, and examined through a microscope, its colors can be determined.

Mr. Fox then demonstrated pot planting or "forcing." He advised members to buy large rather then small bulbs. Between 40 and 50 per cent of the small bulbs, he explained, never grow. Reminding members that for 300 years the finest spring bulbs have come from Holland, he asked members to plant several this year in honor of the Queen of the Netherlands proposed visit to the United States. Mr. Fox also distributed a folder, Holland Bulbs for Springtime Beauty.

Following the meeting, Mrs. Groves served refreshments.

Girl Scout Leaders Are Given Program On Fire Prevention

Members of the Girl Scout Leaders' Club at their regular meeting Monday night in Crosby House of the Fair Street Reformed Church, were addressed by Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy and Deputy Fire Chief Harold A. Sanford on fire prevention.

Reminding his audience that Fire Prevention Week is held to emphasize the necessity of fire prevention methods during the other 51 weeks of the year, Chief Murphy expressed his approval of Scout leaders' interest in prevention, and their program for teaching Girl Scouts 60 fire prevention methods. He pointed out that property losses through fire can be replaced, but loss of life cannot.

Deputy Sanford explained that the department has been greatly disturbed in recent months by the number of boys, aged five to 11 years, who have been discovered starting fires . . . the danger of a five-year-old lighting a fire under a building's loading platform where paints and oils are stored.

Young people who send in false alarms for a thrill, he said, do not realize the two-fold danger involved: the danger of trucks rushing to a fire, and the possibility of a real fire in a hospital or convalescent home getting out of hand while the trucks and equipment are answering a false alarm.

Can Reduce Vandalism

Vandalism can be greatly reduced, he pointed out, if not stopped entirely, by Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts throughout the country who have been taught the rules of safety, and the seriousness of disregarding those rules. Through a strong Scout program, parents may be aroused to use more precautions in the home. In the end, the whole community will benefit. Scouts are taught in both troops and at camp that after a fire is lit, before it can be left, it must be extinguished.

Deputy Sanford also urged parents leaving a baby-sitter in charge of the home to explain a method of evacuating occupants safely from the second floor if the stairway is on fire. The baby-sitter, he added, should also be told how to contact the fire department, the police and the doctor. As many Scouts baby-sit, he urged the assembled leaders to impress them with the necessity of this information.

During the meeting Mrs. Albert Kurdt reported on the recent visit of Miss Jane Lounsberry from the National Headquarters to the Ulster Safety Council. When Miss Lounsberry returns November 19, Mrs. Kurdt said, she hopes to meet with the council, the leaders, committee members, and all adults interested in Girl Scouting. This meeting, to be announced, will be arranged by the Leaders' Club.

Stone Ridge Group Votes to Continue Library Association

Despite a diminishing rate of attendance at annual meetings of the Stone Ridge Library Association, it was recently decided by a large group of members that disbandment of the association would be a vital loss to the Stone Ridge Library.

However, as there seemed to be a constant "confounding of the functions" of the Library Association with those of the library board of trustees, Mrs. Preston Hasbrouck, president of the Library Association, was authorized to issue the following statement purported to clarify the situation:

"The purpose of the Library Association is to cooperate with the trustees in furthering the interests of the library. The membership of this association shall consist of residents of Stone Ridge and vicinity who shall pay an annual dues of $1 or more. The association shall meet in the library at such time as shall be decided by the trustees.

"At such meetings reports shall be made by the librarian, the secretary and the treasurer of the board of trustees. Matters relative to the usefulness of the library may be debated and resolutions adopted for presentation and consideration by the board of trustees. Officers of the association are to be elected by a majority of the membership present at such a meeting. The association may elect two of its members to meet with the trustees at their meetings, sharing in their deliberations."

During the recent meeting, Mrs. Clarence Miller of Kripplebush and Mrs. Lester Roosa of Stone Ridge accepted an invitation to serve again this year as association representatives at the board of trustees meetings. Mrs. Preston Hasbrouck and Mrs. Ross K. Osterhoudt, both of Stone Ridge, were elected president and vice president, respectively.

JoAnne Robbins Is Married Saturday To Robert F. Hicks

Miss JoAnne Elizabeth Robbins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Robbins of Waterville, Me., was married in a double ring ceremony Saturday to Robert Frederic Hicks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest M. Hicks, 87 Clifton avenue. The Rev. J. Dean Dykstra of the Fair Street Reformed Church officiated at the marriage, which took place in the groom's home.

Decorations included palms flanking the fireplace, with baskets of yellow and bronze chrysanthemums. Bronze angel candelabra on the mantel were used for the candlelight service.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a suit of beige wool gabardine, dark green accessories, and a corsage of brown orchids.

She was attended by Mrs. C. D. Creelman of Bellmore, who was dressed in a navy blue crepe dress with a yellow rose corsage. D. Donald Hicks of Natick, Mass., was his brother's best man.

Following a dinner and reception at the Governor Clinton Hotel, Mr. and Mrs. Hicks left for a wedding trip through the Catskill Mountains. They will make their home in Bellmore.

Mrs. Hicks was graduated from Waterville High School with the class of '49, and completed a two-year course at the Cambridge School of Design, Cambridge, Mass. She is employed with B. Altman and Co., New York, as a merchandise illustrator.

Mr. Hicks is a graduate of Kingston High School, class of '45, and served for two years with the U. S. Air Force. An alumnus of the Cambridge School of Design, class of '50, he is now employed as a mechanical draftsman with Devenco Co., New York.

Which Is the Safe Discard?

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

One of the most interesting hands of the recent international Canasta match in London found Johnny Crawford, well-known American expert, badly stuck for a safe discard. See if you can pick the right play with his hand.

Both sides needed 90 points for the initial meld, and the player at your right melds ace-ace-joker very early in the play. The discard pile survives for a few more plays, and you finally freeze it by discarding a deuce.

The discard pile continues to grow until the stock pile is almost exhausted. In this situation, you draw from the stock pile and hold: three tens, three eights, three sevens, a pair of fives and one ace.

No aces have appeared except the two that were melded by your right-hand opponent at the very beginning of the hand. Only two fives have appeared, both thrown by your partner fairly early in the play. Both got by safely, of course. No eights or tens have appeared at any time. The last three discards of the player at your left have been two sevens and a deuce, in that order. No other sevens have appeared at any time.

What do you discard?

Crawford knew that the ace was very unsafe. That had to be ruled out, since there were five aces still to be accounted for. His partner would have thrown aces if they seemed at all safe, so it was very likely that his partner had no more than one ace. That left too many aces for the opponents to hold.

The fives were very unsafe also. Crawford's partner wasn't saving fives, and his two discards had gotten by safely, thus indicating that fives were not held at his right. It was a near certainty that the player at Crawford's left did hold fives.

By elimination, Crawford knew that his discard had to be a ten, an eight, or a seven. What was safest?

The answer was that the player at Crawford's left simply had to have another pair of sevens still in his hand. He couldn't have discarded at that late stage from fewer than four of a kind. The correct play, therefore, was to toss a mental coin in choosing between a ten and an eight.

As it happened, either the ten or the eight would have been safe. A seven was not.

How does it feel to drive a Buick?

If you think perhaps we're hinting that it would be a good idea for you to try out a Buick—mister, you've never been so right.

It does a lot of things for you and to you that will be something new in your driving experience.

Take the way it feels beneath your hands on the wheel—eager and willing and anxious to please.

It spurts when you want to spurt—rolls with effortless momentum when you want to cruise.

When you take a curve, it snugs down to the road with sure-footed confidence.

When you come to a bumpy stretch, each separate wheel on its own coil spring steps you smoothly along on a level keel.

Then there's power that surges into action at a nudge of your toe—sends your speedometer needle soaring up to any speed the law allows, in a matter of seconds.

And there is also thrift—the gas-saving thrift that comes from a high-compression valve-in-head Fireball Engine found in no other car.

To top all this, there is Dynaflow Drive*—that feeds power in a steady, falterless flow—lets you ride relaxed in busy traffic or on a day-long cross-country drive.

DYNAFLOW DRIVE*—saves strain on driver and car
FIREBALL ENGINE—high-compression, valve-in-head—gets more miles from every tank of fuel
PUSH-BAR FOREFRONT—combines smart, distinctive style and unsurpassed front-end protection
WHITE-GLOW INSTRUMENTS—greater clarity at night
TORQUE-TUBE DRIVE—steadies ride, improves driving control
4-WHEEL COIL SPRINGING—cushions ride, saves servicing costs
SELF-ENERGIZING BRAKES—hydraulic—multiply pedal-pressure five times at brake drum
DREAMLINE STYLING—tapered, car-length fenders, gleaming sweep-spears on most models

Plus: Self-locking luggage lid, StepOn parking brake, two-way ignition lock, Safety-Ride rims, Hi-Poised engine mounting, Body by Fisher

When better automobiles are built BUICK will build them

We're willing to stand on the statement that no other car rides, performs or drives like a Buick.

But why take our word for it? Come in—take over one of these lively lovelies—and see for yourself.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

How does it feel to drive a Buick?

IF you think perhaps we're hinting that it would be a good idea for you to try out a Buick—mister, you've never been so right.

It does a lot of things for you and to you that will be something new in your driving experience.

Take the way it feels beneath your hands on the wheel—eager and willing and anxious to please.

It spurts when you want to spurt—rolls with effortless momentum when you want to cruise.

When you take a curve, it snugs down to the road with sure-footed confidence.

After you make a turn, the front wheels instinctively seek a straight course. This car seems to guide itself.

When you come to a bumpy stretch, each separate wheel on its own coil spring steps you smoothly along on a level keel.

Then there's power that surges into action at a nudge of your toe—sends your speedometer needle soaring up to any speed the law allows, in a matter of seconds.

And there is also thrift—the gas-saving thrift that comes from a high-compression valve-in-head Fireball Engine found in no other car.

To top all this, there is Dynaflow Drive*—that feeds power in a steady, falterless flow—lets you ride relaxed in busy traffic or on a day-long cross-country drive.

DYNAFLOW DRIVE*—saves strain on driver and car
FIREBALL ENGINE—high-compression, valve-in-head—gets more miles from every tank of fuel
PUSH-BAR FOREFRONT—combines smart, distinctive style and unsurpassed front-end protection
WHITE-GLOW INSTRUMENTS—greater clarity at night
TORQUE-TUBE DRIVE—steadies ride, improves driving control
4-WHEEL COIL SPRINGING—cushions ride, saves servicing costs
SELF-ENERGIZING BRAKES—hydraulic—multiply pedal-pressure five times at brake drum
DREAMLINE STYLING—tapered, car-length fenders, gleaming sweep-spears on most models
Plus: Self-locking luggage lid, StepOn parking brake, two-way ignition lock, Safety-Ride rims, Hi-Poised engine mounting. Body by Fisher

When better automobiles are built BUICK will build them

We're willing to stand on the statement that no other car rides, performs or drives like a Buick.

But why take our word for it? Come in—take over one of these lively lovelies—and see for yourself.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

Wine for Cows

Rome (AP) — Italy has agreed to send Switzerland 400,000 liters of wine in exchange for cattle. The transaction, outside of the current clearing agreement between the two countries, will bring Italian wine producers an average of 20 Swiss francs per hundred liters of wine.

Do You Remember

BY SOPHIE MILLER

Books, magazines and newspapers are all composed with the same care, yet the newspaper is the first to be disposed of. The magazines may pile up and then they too go out in the rubbish heap, but books are usually kept till the very last, or until a home is broken up. Folks may brag about their library of books, but do they ever call your attention to their pile of old newspapers. When someone brings me an old newspaper I usually read it through, but a book I read in parts, put it away for later. Several fine books which I received lately are called "History of the Valley of the Hudson--River of Destiny, 1609-1930." Edited by Nelson Greene, 1931.

This book does not go in for stories, but just straight concise facts. For instance: "The Catskill water supply system of New York city was completed in 1917. This vast undertaking is one of the greatest engineering works in the Hudson valley. The Croton water supply of New York city was opened some 100 years ago in 1842. A tunnel carrying the water runs under the Hudson river at a depth of 1,114 feet below sea level which is approximately that of the river at this point — between Storm King Mountain on the west shore, and Breakneck Mountain on the east shore. It was necessary to cut the tunnel at this great depth in order to reach solid rock."

Mr. Greene skims over the progress in this manner: "In 1929, the Albany-Cleveland air mail service began. In 1930, the route was lighted with beacons for night flying. In 1930, the vehicular bridge at Poughkeepsie was opened to traffic with the Bear Mountain bridge being opened in 1928. So I guess it's about time for our Hudson river bridge near Kingston. The Storm King Highway was opened to public traffic in 1924. It is considered one of the most remarkable scenic roads in this part of the country. Driving along there on a stormy night is really something. Several times, when the storms didn't seem so bad elsewhere, we kept right on going until we were up on the Storm King then we realized how really bad it was there.

He mentions Edgar Mayhew Bacon's book, "The Hudson River" which I have not read as yet. One chapter called "The Passing of the White Wings," from which he quotes: "They carried peltries and flour from Rensselaerwyck and Esopus and ran the dreaded gauntlet of the Highlands, saying their prayers in Dutch, when the awful shadow of the phantom ship crossed their bows in the moonlight under Point-no-Point. From generation to generation, they transmitted the legends and secrets of boatcraft that no mere landsman can ever know and—never one among them all had the wit or the skill to put pen to paper and set it down for our delectation and his own enduring fame." Bacon wrote this charming book in 1903, when the surviving river captains were then generally old men.

Senior President

EDMUND BOWER

Maroon Editor

WILLIAM GAUDETTE

Three of the school's major groups, which organized before the close of last term, are already working on projects for this year.

Student Council officers include three seniors: Carl Constant, president, Katie Oakly, secretary, and Ed Bower, treasurer. Diane Johnson, a junior, is serving as vice-president.

Ed Bower succeeds Joe Erena as president of the senior class. Other senior class officers are Barbara Hutton, vice-president, Sheila Law, secretary, and Pete Bruck, treasurer.

Bill Gaudette has the distinction of being the Maroon editor while Pete Bruck will act as business manager. Beatrice Newkirk is assistant editor and Douglas Buddenhagen is assistant business manager. Mrs. Helen Partlan is chief faculty advisor with Frank Warren as school photographer.

Besides the officers, Student Council functions through home room representatives. After plans have been worked out in general council meeting, each representative lays the question before the students in the home room which he represents and in this way is able to secure the opinions of his section of the student body.

Girls representing home rooms on the Student Council are Harriet Rimmi, Marilyn Johnson, Barbara Chmura, Janet Alte, Marsha Woolf, Nancy Jackson, Martha Davenport, Joan Nolan, Helen Casperson, Joan Souers, Ruthann Christensen, Patricia Manfro, Eileen O'Reilly, Edith Palen, Robin Strongin, Barbara Warnecke, Margaret Dansford, Joan Lee, Faith Gersbeck, Betty Ann Hyatt, Barbara Hutton, Nancy Wilson, Annlouise Palisi, Polly Le Fever and Pat Zimmerman.

Those representing boys' home rooms are Tom Brower, Chris Rienzo, Robert Hinckley, Scott Comstock, Orvil Giles, Karl Meyers, Joe Erena, Ernest Myer, Stuart Svirsky, William DuBois, Michael Flanagan, Donald Kiwus, Will Rogers, Roger Billings, Tom Kearney, Dane Schwartz, Louis Nardi, Mark Silk, Frank Tiano, Everatt Campbell, Elmer Elliott, Herbert Kirschner, Gerald Parks, Frank Seuets, Thomas Demmel, George Dahl and Robert Hampton.

Maroon Masquers

With the organization of the clubs, Maroon Masquers, the dramatic club, has lost no time in organizing. A play has been chosen to be presented to the club, and then, if it's good enough, may be put on in assembly.

Under a student director, Ruth Cohn, a cast of 10 girls will take part in "Broken Rehearsal," a serio-comedy by Nellie McCaslin. Members of the cast are Fleurette Reon, Mildred Brown, Robin Strongin, Marsha Woolf, Betty Horowitz, Ruth Streifer, Estelle Fatum, Faith Kingsburg, Maureen Dugan, and Mary Lou Snyder. No date has, as yet, been set for the presentation, but it will probably be in early November.

New Librarian

A new librarian has been added to the K.H.S. factulty. She is a native Kingstonian, a graduate of St. Ursula Academy and New Paltz State Teachers College.

Miss Ruth Murtha, who will replace Mrs. Annie Cullen as assistant librarian, has also been in the Marine branch of the service, and has worked at the New York City Public Library and the Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute. Miss Murtha assumed her new duties last Monday.

Prisma Subscription Drive

Prisma's annual subscription drive will start the last part of October or the early part of November this year. It will be in time for the renewal of any subscriptions. Prizes will again be awarded to the girls who sell the most subscriptions.

Senior Leaders Club Sale

Senior Leaders Club will start a sale of miniature banners. These banners will be done in the school colors, maroon and white and may be purchased from any Senior Leader.

Special Cheering Section

In order to promote the school spirit at the varsity football games, a special cheering section is being organized under the leadership of Polly Le Fever.

Ten lieutenants will be appointed, and a group, consisting of five boys and five girls, will be under each one.

This will total over 100 boys and girls who will be seated near the 50 yard line, and really make with the cheers for the boys of KHS.

He Was Fascinated

Long Beach, Calif., Oct. 10 (AP) —Who says you can't arrest a man for looking? Robert L. Browning, 39, was picked up on a disorderly conduct charge yesterday after Mrs. Jaquetta Sather, 24, complained that he stared at her for as long as 20 minutes at a time. First, she said, he came into the liquor store where she works and just sat and looked. She asked him to stop. Then he started driving by and gazing at her through binoculars, she said. Slim Mrs. Sather has green eyes and honey colored hair. Police quoted Browning as saying, "I just couldn't help looking at her. She fascinated me."

Government Criticized

Washington, Oct. 10 (AP)—The State Department disclosed yesterday it has given the Polish government the sharp side of its tongue for keeping Poles ignorant "of the facts of the world." The note was delivered Sept. 20 to the Polish ambassador here. The State Department made it public yesterday because, it said, Poland did not publish it.

Do You Remember

BY SOPHIE MILLER

Books, magazines and newspapers are all composed with the same care, yet the newspaper is the first to be disposed of. The magazines may pile up and then they too go out in the rubbish heap, but books are usually kept till the very last, or until a home is broken up. Folks may brag about their library of books, but do they ever call your attention to their pile of old newspapers. When someone brings me an old newspaper I usually read it through, but a book I read in parts, put it away for later. Several fine books which I received lately are called "History of the Valley of the Hudson—River of Destiny, 1609-1930." Edited by Nelson Greene, 1931.

This book does not go in for stories, but just straight concise facts. For instance: "The Catskill water supply system of New York city was completed in 1917. This vast undertaking is one of the greatest engineering works in the Hudson valley. The Croton water supply of New York city was opened some 100 years ago in 1842. A tunnel carrying the water runs under the Hudson river at a depth of 1,114 feet below sea level which is approximately that of the river at this point — between Storm King Mountain on the west shore, and Breakneck Mountain on the east shore. It was necessary to cut the tunnel at this great depth in order to reach solid rock."

Mr. Greene skims over the progress in this manner: "In 1929, the Albany-Cleveland air mail service began. In 1930, the route was lighted with beacons for night flying. In 1930, the vehicular bridge at Poughkeepsie was opened to traffic with the Bear Mountain bridge being opened in 1928. So I guess it's about time for our Hudson river bridge near Kingston. The Storm King Highway was opened to public traffic in 1924. It is considered one of the most remarkable scenic roads in this part of the country. Driving along there on a stormy night is really something. Several times, when the storms didn't seem so bad elsewhere, we kept right on going until we were up on the Storm King then we realized how really bad it was there.

He mentions Edgar Mayhew Bacon's book, "The Hudson River" which I have not read as yet. One chapter called "The Passing of the White Wings," from which he quotes: "They carried peltries and flour from Rensselaerwyck and Esopus and ran the dreaded gauntlet of the Highlands, saying their prayers in Dutch, when the awful shadow of the phantom ship crossed their bows in the moonlight under Point-no-Point. From generation to generation, they transmitted the legends and secrets of boatcraft that no mere landsman can ever know and—never one among them all had the wit or the skill to put pen to paper and set it down for our delectation and his own enduring fame." Bacon wrote this charming book in 1903, when the surviving river captains were then generally old men.

Senior President

EDMUND BOWER

Maroon Editor

WILLIAM GAUDETTE

Three of the school's major groups, which organized before the close of last term, are already working on projects for this year.

Student Council officers include three seniors: Carl Constant, president, Katie Oakly, secretary, and Ed Bower, treasurer. Diane Johnson, a junior, is serving as vice-president.

Ed Bower succeeds Joe Erena as president of the senior class. Other senior class officers are Barbara Hutton, vice-president, Sheila Law, secretary, and Pete Bruck, treasurer.

Bill Gaudette has the distinction of being the Maroon editor while Pete Bruck will act as business manager. Beatrice Newkirk is assistant editor and Douglas Buddenhagen is assistant business manager. Mrs. Helen Partlan is chief faculty advisor with Frank Warren as school photographer.

Besides the officers, Student Council functions through home room representatives. After plans have been worked out in general council meeting, each representative lays the question before the students in the home room which he represents and in this way is able to secure the opinions of his section of the student body.

Maroon Masquers

With the organization of the clubs, Maroon Masquers, the dramatic club, has lost no time in organizing. A .play has been chosen to be presented to the club, and then, if it's good enough, may be put on in assembly.

Under a student director, Ruth Cohn, a cast of 10 girls will take part in "Broken Rehearsal," a serio-comedy by Nellie McCaslin. Members of the cast are Fleurette Reon, Mildred Brown, Robin Strongin, Marsha Woolf, Betty Horowitz, Ruth Streifer, Estelle Fatum, Faith Kingsburg, Maureen Dugan, and Mary Lou Snyder. No date has, as yet, been set for the presentation, but it will probably be in early November.

A new librarian has been added to the K.H.S. factulty. She is a native Kingstonian, a graduate of St. Ursula Academy and New Paltz State Teachers College.

Miss Ruth Murtha, who will replace Mrs. Annie Cullen as assistant librarian, has also been in the Marine branch of the service, and has worked at the New York City Public Library and the Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute. Miss Murtha assumed her new duties last Monday.

Special Cheering Section

In order to promote the school spirit at the varsity football games, a special cheering section is being organized under the leadership of Polly Le Fever.

Ten lieutenants will be appointed, and a group, consisting of five boys and five girls, will be under each one.

This will total over 100 boys and girls who will be seated near the 50 yard line, and really make with the cheers for the boys of KHS.

He Was Fascinated

Long Beach, Calif., Oct. 10 (AP)—Who says you can't arrest a man for looking? Robert L. Browning, 39, was picked up on a disorderly conduct charge yesterday after Mrs. Jaquetta Sather, 24, complained that he stared at her for as long as 20 minutes at a time. First, she said, he came into the liquor store where she works and just sat and looked. She asked him to stop. Then he started driving by and gazing at her through binoculars, she said. Slim Mrs. Sather has green eyes and honey colored hair. Police quoted Browning as saying, "I just couldn't help looking at her. She fascinated me."

Government Criticized

Washington, Oct. 10 (AP)—The State Department disclosed yesterday it has given the Polish government the sharp side of its tongue for keeping Poles ignorant "of the facts of the world." The note was delivered Sept. 20 to the Polish ambassador here. The State Department made it public yesterday because, it said, Poland did not publish it.

Yankees and Vic Raschi Favored 9-5 to End Series in Six Games

Ed Lopat's Hurling, McDougald's Grand Slam Homer Pace 13-1 Win

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—Flexing their muscles after the 13-1 slaughter at the Polo Grounds, the aroused New York Yankees closed in for the kill today with Vic Raschi (21-10) primed to face Dave Koslo (10-9) of the Giants in the sixth world series game at Yankee Stadium.

Once more Leo Durocher's desperate Giants had their backs to the wall, a most familiar position. Trailing 3-2 in games, they couldn't afford to lose any more and the Yanks were 9 to 5 favorites to close out in six.

Durocher chose Koslo, a 31-year-old lefthander, for his do-or-die effort. He gambled and won with Dave against Allie Reynolds in the opening game at the stadium. Passing up Jim Hearn, the third game winner, he pinned his hopes on cool Koslo to keep them popping up in the spacious Yankee home park.

If Koslo can do it again, the Giants will have a fighting chance for survival. If he fails they can pack up and go back home to dream of Bobby Thomson's payoff homer in the playoffs.

Now in Retreat

Much of the sheen of Thomson's famous homer was rubbed off yesterday in the Giants' final Polo Grounds appearance. Groggy and numbed after a 12-hit Yankee bombing that included a grand slam homer by rookie Gil McDougald and a "Chinese" homer by little Phil Rizzuto, they surrendered meekly.

Larry Jansen, twice a loser in the series, had shoddy backing. Still he hurt himself with four walks and that home run ball to McDougald, the 22-year-old kid from San Francisco.

By the time the Yanks finished touching up Montia Kennedy, George Spencer and Al Corwin, Durocher had to call on a gent named Alex Konikowski, late of Ottawa, to finish. It didn't matter much then to the 47,530 fans, most of whom had departed long ago.

Why are the Yanks leading? It's as simple as the batting averages. Of 35 Giant hits, 20 are concentrated in Monte Irvin (.550) and Al Dark (.429). The others are sad news.

Brown Sparkles

Bobby Brown (.357) is showing his usual October form. Rizzuto (.333) has the most hits of any Yankees, seven. Young McDougald (.316) is hitting in the clutches and Joe DiMaggio (.238) is making a fine recovery from a 12 to 0 start.

The Yanks have scored 25 runs, the Giants 15. The Yanks have a .247 team average, the Giants .220. The Yanks have five home runs the Giants two. Add two fine pitching jobs by Lefty Ed Lopat and a fine comeback by Allie Reynolds and you have enough reasons.

Lopat was plenty cute yesterday, sprinkling five hits. Only one Giant reached second base against the chunky little fellow with the easy motion after the first inning. Irvin ran his hit total to 11, one short of the record, and was robbed of the 12th by Gene Woodling's fine running catch in the ninth. Dark's two hits boosted his total to nine. Wes Westrum's double was the only other hit.

All the Yanks celebrated except Lopat. DiMaggio had three hits, Rizzuto and Brown two each and all the others had one.

Now, with a third straight series victory within his grasp, Manager Casey Stengel decided to send Raschi after the big one. Vic, a husky righthander, was knocked out in the fifth inning Saturday when Jim Hearn stopped the Yanks. With three days rest, he's anxious to get even with the Giants.

Lost Only Four

The Yanks, 13-4 in 17 previous series, haven't lost since the St. Louis Cards upset them in 1942. The Cards beat them in '26 and the Giants in ' 21 and '22. All the rest have meant Yankee victory dinners.

Judging from yesterday's final score, you never would think the Giants once led. But they did, 1-0 at the end of the first on singles by Dark and Irvin and an error by Woodling.

Young Gil sent the boys scurrying for the record books to dig up the news that it was the third bases-loaded homer in series history and the first since Tony Lazzeri "pooshed" one up for the Yanks in an 18-4 rout of the Giants on Oct. 2, 1936. That's the most lopsided score in series history, although the Yanks also won the finale that year, 13-5, on Oct. 6, both at the Polo Grounds.

Two singles plus an error by Clint Hartung, a desperation move in right field against a lefty, set up another run off Spencer in the sixth. Johnny Mize double made it 9-1.

Four more rolled home in the seventh when Spencer walked Rizzuto with the bases full, Al Corwin wild pitched Joe Collins across and DiMaggio's double delivered two.

Mize, starting his first game, was due to remain in the lineup even against Koslo. Gerry Coleman was to play second with McDougald returning to third and Hank Bauer replacing Collins in right field.

Weather Man Should Get Cut

Harmon Knew

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—If the New York Yankees win the World Series, it would be only fair that they vote a full share of the swag to the weatherman.

If you wanted to put your finger on the turning point of this 1951 edition of baseball madness it probably would fall on Sunday, Oct. 7. The score board that day read: "Postponed, rain."

"It fixed it up so we could pitch Allie Reynolds Monday instead of having to go with one of our other fellows. But mainly it was a help to Rizzuto. Phil was in bad shape Sunday — knots on both wrists and a bruise on his chest.

"But he was okay Monday. He's been getting important hits and making beautiful plays for us ever since."

Stengel didn't say so but the layoff enabled the Yankees to pause and take stock of themselves. Here they were—the world champions—getting pushed around by the audacious Giants.

At first confident, then thrown into confusion by the enemy's dash, the Yankees may never have collected themselves unless there had been an interruption. Since the rain, they've won two straight and looked like Bronx Bombers instead of Bronx Bunters.

It's typical of the baseball fan, a strange creature indeed. A first inning foul yesterday landed on top of the press box, in front of the upper tier reserved section. In a dash after the ball, a well-dressed patron ripped a $100 suit, dropped and broke a pair of $30 spectacles and skinned his shins enough to call for a $10 doctor's visit. He got the ball. Value: $2.75.

Claude Harmon, the well-known golf pro from Mamaroneck, N. Y., says he could have told Joe DiMaggio what was wrong with his batting stance all along. "I would have, too, if I thought he wouldn't have resented it," said the former Masters champion.

Harmon said the Yankee Clipper, in correcting his stance, closed it slightly and started taking a shorter swing. "Just what you do to a fellow when he's hooking a tee shot," he added.

Burke, Ransom On Ryder Cup Squad

Chicago, Oct. 10 (AP)—The 10 United States professionals who will meet the British in the 1951 Ryder Cup matches at Pinehurst, N. C., Nov. 2 and 4, have been named by the Professional Golfers' Association of America.

The group is headed by Slammin' Sammy Snead, who in two years of competition accumulated 1,244 1/6 Ryder Cup team points.

Two players making their Ryder Cup debut are Jack Burke, Jr., with 774½ points, and Henry Ransom, with 315 1/12.

Charles Starts Long Road Back

Pittsburgh, Oct. 10 (AP)—Ezzard Charles, confident he'll be the first fighter ever to regain the heavyweight boxing title, meets his first big test in stocky Rex Layne tonight in a 12-round bout at Forbes Field.

Both were knocked out in their last fights. Charles lost his heavyweight crown to aging Jersey Joe Walcott via a seven round knockout. Layne was flattened by Rocky Marciano in six rounds.

Charles predicts he'll win. So does Layne but neither will commit himself on how he intends doing it. Both blame overwork for their poor showings in July.

"He's a good slugger but I think I can keep away from him to win," says the 30-year-old Charles who defended his titile eight times in two years before he ran into Walcott's left hook.

A defeat for Charles would all but eliminate him for his scheduled return bout with Jersey Joe.

"I knew what I wanted to do in the Marciano fight but just couldn't do it," comments Layne. "But I feel different about this one. The climatic conditions in Pittsburgh had me down at first but after 13 days of hard training I feel great."

Pro Football TV Now Under Fire

Philadelphia, Oct. 10 (AP) — A government anti-trust suit against the National Football League had John Q. Public wondering today if unrestricted television of all top sports events might result.

The Justice Department accused the NFL of violating federal anti-trust laws in restricting television and radio broadcasts of its football games. The suit yesterday asked the U. S. District Court to issue an injunction prohibiting the league from regulating telecasts and broadcasts.

Many NFL club owners took the news of the suit lightly. League President Bert Bell laughed out loud and said:

"Why with only a few small exceptions our entire television and radio program is based on suggestions by the trust department. We have nothing to fear. If we are in violation of any anti-trust laws, then we want to find it out. We don't believe it."

The Justice Department said it picked the NFL for the test case because it is "the worst in respect to having the greatest restrictions on radio and TV of any major sports activity."

H. Graham Morison, assistant attorney general in charge of anti-trust activity, indicated that "if the shoe fits" in the NFL case, similar court action will be taken against other sports organizations.

In Washington, Rep. Clements (D-N.Y.) who has been calling for a congressional investigation of sports, praised the Justice Department's action.

"But I don't think it goes far enough," he said. "I think we ought to look into boxing, basketball and college football."

Yankees and Vic Raschi Favored 9-5 to End Series in Six Games

Ed Lopat's Hurling, McDougald's Grand Slam Homer Pace 13-1 Win

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—Flexing their muscles after the 13-1 slaughter at the Polo Grounds, the aroused New York Yankees closed in for the kill today with Vic Raschi (21-10) primed to face Dave Koslo (10-9) of the Giants in the sixth world series game at Yankee Stadium.

Once more Leo Durocher's desperate Giants had their backs to the wall, a most familiar position. Trailing 3-2 in games, they couldn't afford to lose any more and the Yanks were 9 to 5 favorites to close out in six.

Against Brooklyn in the playoff, the Giants bounced back in the dramatic finale. But they seem to have lost their bounce since Sunday's rainy interruption.

Durocher chose Koslo, a 31-year-old lefthander, for his do-or-die effort. He gambled and won with Dave against Allie Reynolds in the opening game at the stadium. Passing up Jim Hearn, the third game winner, he pinned his hopes on cool Koslo to keep them popping up in the spacious Yankee home park.

If Koslo can do it again, the Giants will have a fighting chance for survival. If he fails they can pack up and go back home to dream of Bobby Thomson's payoff homer in the playoffs.

Now in Retreat

Much of the sheen of Thomson's famous homer was rubbed off yesterday in the Giants' final Polo Grounds appearance. Groggy and numbed after a 12-hit Yankee bombing that included a grand slam homer by rookie Gil McDougald and a "Chinese" homer by little Phil Rizzuto, they surrendered meekly.

Larry Jansen, twice a loser in the series, had shoddy backing. Still he hurt himself with four walks and that home run ball to McDougald, the 22-year-old kid from San Francisco.

By the time the Yanks finished touching up Montia Kennedy, George Spencer and Al Corwin, Durocher had to call on a gent named Alex Konikowski, late of Ottawa, to finish. It didn't matter much then to the 47,530 fans, most of whom had departed long ago.

Why are the Yanks leading? It's as simple as the batting averages. Of 35 Giant hits, 20 are concentrated in Monte Irvin (.550) and Al Dark (.429). The others are sad news.

Brown Sparkles

Bobby Brown (.357) is showing his usual October form. Rizzuto (.333) has the most hits of any Yankees, seven. Young McDougald (.316) is hitting in the clutches and Joe DiMaggio (.238) is making a fine recovery from a 12 to 0 start.

The Yanks have scored 25 runs, the Giants 15. The Yanks have a .247 team average, the Giants .220. The Yanks have five home runs the Giants two. Add two fine pitching jobs by Lefty Ed Lopat and a fine comeback by Allie Reynolds and you have enough reasons.

Lopat was plenty cute yesterday, sprinkling five hits. Only one Giant reached second base against the chunky little fellow with the easy motion after the first inning. Irvin ran his hit total to 11, one short of the record, and was robbed of the 12th by Gene Woodling's fine running catch in the ninth. Dark's two hits boosted his total to nine. Wes Westrum's double was the only other hit.

All the Yanks celebrated except Lopat. DiMaggio had three hits, Rizzuto and Brown two each and all the others had one.

Now, with a third straight series victory within his grasp, Manager Casey Stengel decided to send Raschi after the big one. Vic, a husky righthander, was knocked out in the fifth inning Saturday when Jim Hearn stopped the Yanks. With three days rest, he's anxious to get even with the Giants.

Lost Only Four

The Yanks, 13-4 in 17 previous series, haven't lost since the St. Louis Cards upset them in 1942. The Cards beat them in '26 and the Giants in ' 21 and '22. All the rest have meant Yankee victory dinners.

Judging from yesterday's final score, you never would think the Giants once led. But they did, 1-0 at the end of the first on singles by Dark and Irvin and an error by Woodling.

DiMaggio's single following two walks tied the score early in the third. After an intentional walk to Johnny Mize loaded the bases, McDougald unloaded them with a homer into the upper left field seats.

Young Gil sent the boys scurrying for the record books to dig up the news that it was the third bases-loaded homer in series history and the first since Tony Lazzeri "pooshed" one up for the Yanks in an 18-4 rout of the Giants on Oct. 2, 1936. That's the most lopsided score in series history, although the Yanks also won the finale that year, 13-5, on Oct. 6, both at the Polo Grounds.

Rizzuto's homer came after Woodling walked in the fourth. Phil reached for an outside pitch by Kennedy and punched the ball into the right field stands, just inside the foul pole at the 257-foot mark.

Two singles plus an error by Clint Hartung, a desperation move in right field against a lefty, set up another run off Spencer in the sixth. Johnny Mize double made it 9-1.

Four more rolled home in the seventh when Spencer walked Rizzuto with the bases full, Al Corwin wild pitched Joe Collins across and DiMaggio's double delivered two.

Mize, starting his first game, was due to remain in the lineup even against Koslo. Gerry Coleman was to play second with McDougald returning to third and Hank Bauer replacing Collins in right field.

Weather Man Should Get Cut

Harmon Knew

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—If the New York Yankees win the World Series, it would be only fair that they vote a full share of the swag to the weatherman.

If you wanted to put your finger on the turning point of this 1951 edition of baseball madness it probably would fall on Sunday, Oct. 7. The score board that day read: "Postponed, rain."

"There's no doubt about it," Yankee Manager Casey Stengel said today, "the rain and that day of rest was a big help to us.

"It fixed it up so we could pitch Allie Reynolds Monday instead of having to go with one of our other fellows. But mainly it was a help to Rizzuto. Phil was in bad shape Sunday — knots on both wrists and a bruise on his chest.

"But he was okay Monday. He's been getting important hits and making beautiful plays for us ever since."

Stengel didn't say so but the layoff enabled the Yankees to pause and take stock of themselves. Here they were—the world champions—getting pushed around by the audacious Giants.

At first confident, then thrown into confusion by the enemy's dash, the Yankees may never have collected themselves unless there had been an interruption. Since the rain, they've won two straight and looked like Bronx Bombers instead of Bronx Bunters.

It's typical of the baseball fan, a strange creature indeed. A first inning foul yesterday landed on top of the press box, in front of the upper tier reserved section. In a dash after the ball, a well-dressed patron ripped a $100 suit, dropped and broke a pair of $30 spectacles and skinned his shins enough to call for a $10 doctor's visit. He got the ball. Value: $2.75.

Claude Harmon, the well-known golf pro from Mamaroneck, N. Y., says he could have told Joe DiMaggio what was wrong with his batting stance all along. "I would have, too, if I thought he wouldn't have resented it," said the former Masters champion.

Harmon said the Yankee Clipper, in correcting his stance, closed it slightly and started taking a shorter swing. "Just what you do to a fellow when he's hooking a tee shot," he added.

Burke, Ransom On Ryder Cup Squad

Chicago, Oct. 10 (AP)—The 10 United States professionals who will meet the British in the 1951 Ryder Cup matches at Pinehurst, N. C., Nov. 2 and 4, have been named by the Professional Golfers' Association of America.

The group is headed by Slammin' Sammy Snead, who in two years of competition accumulated 1,244 1/6 Ryder Cup team points.

Two players making their Ryder Cup debut are Jack Burke, Jr., with 774½ points, and Henry Ransom, with 315 1/12.

McDougald, Ugly Duckling, Amuses Everyone but the Giants; Brilliant Yankee Rookie Hit Grand Slam Homer for His Ma and Pa

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—"He's the lousiest looking ball player in the world, but he's splendid."

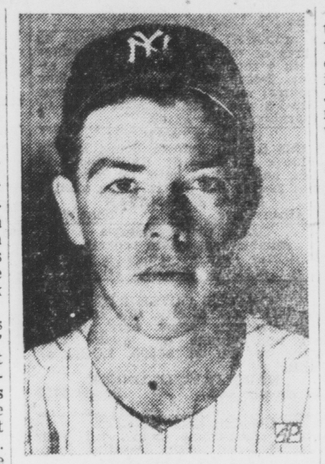
Thus did Manager Casey Stengel describe Gil McDougald, 22-year-old infield star of the Yankees, whose grand slam home run yesterday was the key blow in the defending world champion's 13-1 romp over the Giants in the fifth game of the all-New York World Series.

"Everything he does looks wrong, but it comes out right," said Stengel "he bats funny but he hits like heck. He's got a peculiar way of throwing but his arm is strong and accurate. He runs like a pacer but he is fast and knows how to run the bases. He's only a rookie but he's done as much for me as any of my veterans."

A goodly number of persons in the huge crowd that watched the Yankees grab a three-to-one game lead snickered when McDougald assumed his odd stance at the plate.

Results Aren't Funny

Those who had never seen him before gaped when young Gil got in position, his left toe pointing straight toward the mound, his body leaning halfway over the plate, his rear stuck out like the back bumper of a car, and his bat held at a 90 degree angle from his body.



GIL McDOUGALD

Even Manager Leo Durocher of the Giants couldn't have thought too much of the kid since he ordered Larry Jansen to hand an intentional base-filling pass to Johnny Mize to get at this snub-nosed, freckle-faced redhead. That was in the third inning.

McDougald calmly watched a couple of pitches sail over the plate, then lashed his bat at a high fast ball and rapped it into the upper left field stands for a thrill-of-a-lifetime grand slam home run. It was only the third of its kind in a World Series. Elmer Smith of the 1920 Clevelanders and Tony Lazzeri of the '36 Yankees were the only others to do it.

That was the ball game. The blow snapped a 1-1 tie and blew the game wide open. Southpaw Eddie Lopat was home free from then on. The rest of the battering was just icing on the cake.

Oddly enough, this titanic feat did not give Gil his biggest thrill in baseball.

"I got more of a kick out of the first one," he said. "That was against the Browns in St. Louis. I knew I hit the ball good today—I was trying to pull it to left field—but I didn't realize it was a homer until I was on my way to second base. I looked up and saw that Irvin wasn't going to catch the ball. Then I knew it was in the seats."

One Against Browns

It was on May 3 that he got his first jackpot blow in St. Louis. That was in the ninth inning when the Yankees set an American League record by scoring 11 runs. Mac drove in six of them to tie a league mark. He tripled with two on before hitting his bases-loaded clout.

McDougald, a top candidate for the rookie-of-the-year award, is a two-way regular. He is the second baseman when the opposition pitches a righthander, and is the third baseman when the Yanks face a southpaw. That is because third sacker Bobby Brown plays only against righthanders and second baseman Gerry Coleman performs only when a lefthander is on the mound.

Somebody asked McDougald whether he was nervous playing in a World Series in his first year in the big leagues.

"Heck, no," he replied. "I was a little nervous in the first game. But that wore off."

"You see," he added, "I had to hit one. My Ma and Pa were in the stands and only yesterday Dad asked me, 'when are you going to hit me one, boy'?"

Draft Board Resigns

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 10 (AP)—A three-man local draft board has resigned in protest of a national Selective Service policy of inducting childless married men while deferring college students. The board quit yesterday, labeling the order as "discriminatory and one which we would not subscribe to." The board also criticized the Kentucky Draft Appeal Board's recent refusal to uphold the board when it rejected the deferment of 18 college students.

Russian TV Only Words

Budapest (AP)—Latest Russian "discovery" is the art of mass production of TV sets. The newspaper Szabad Nep declares also that Russian-made TV sets are far superior to those of the West, giving "a clear, sharp and perfect picture." However, Hungarians have to be content with the "promise" that TV will arrive in "the near future."

Middlecoff Captures Kansas City Open; Mangrum Top Money Winner, $25,838

Kansas City, Oct. 10 (AP)—Cary Middlecoff nabbed the Kansas City Open title to wind up the PGA's summer golf tournament tour as the nation's No. 2 money winner.

The tall Tennessee dentist was four strokes under par in beating Dave Douglas of Newark, Del., and Doug Ford of Harrison, N. Y., by four strokes in an 18-hole playoff in the $15,000 Kansas City Open yesterday.

Middlecoff shot at 68. Douglas and Ford each had 72s over the hard Milburn Country Club course.

The victory, Middlecoff's sixth major success of the year, was good for $2,400 and boosted his year's earnings to $24,075.91, second only to Lloyd Mangrum who has made $25,838.83.

Middlecoff led Ford by two strokes and Douglas by four after shooting a front nine 33, three under par. But he had to beat off a strong rally by both opponents before winning.

Had Douglas been able to sink his putts he could have emerged the winner. Douglas missed four-footers on the 13th and 18th. Had he sank them he would have been even with Middlecoff.

Middlecoff, who outplayed his foes in every department of the game, had nines of 33-35. Douglas was out in 37 and back in 35, Ford 35-37.

During these days of world series hysteria, if you will discount press reports that the current classic between the Giants and Yankees is the dullest thing since the world's championship chess tournament, a large percentage of the citizenry is relaxing in comfort and anxiety.

Sounds paradoxical but nothing looks more comfortable than a group of baseball fanatics sipping cokes and beers in front of a TV set. And yet so many people are whipped into a maniacal frenzy each three hours of a world series ball game that we could not help recall an amusing article we read a few days ago.

It was about exercise vs. relaxation with its possible effects longevity and the vigorous life.

The friend who was exposing golf as a sham a few days ago would have chuckled reading those same lines:

The man pointed out that at last medical science is beginning to substantiate what the lazy guys have been saying for years—that exercise is strictly for suckers and a man would live longer flat on his back with a jug of cider than climbing a mountain or chasing flies in the outfield.

An English newspaper recently carried an article saying that famous men for years have been asserting that exercise for its own sake is a farce and a fraud. My good friend, Lou Schafer at the YMCA no doubt will dissent vigorously. And Dick McCarthy, having read this, will undoubtedly delay indefinitely his long awaited entry into golf.

Max Beerbohm declared that whenever he felt the need for physical exercise he used to lie down until the feeling went away. Mark Twain said he got all the exercise he required by acting as pallbearer at the funerals of friends who had exercised regularly.

George Nathan, the acid-tongued critic, boasted that his most strenuous exercise consisted in opening taxi doors and crawling inside. He added that tortoises, the laziest creatures on earth live to be 300 years old, while devotees of exercise, like dogs, squirrels and hares do well if they last 10 or 12 years.

A few years ago an American insurance agency studied the records of 5,000 former college athletes and found that they lived no longer than their lazier contemporaries.

Recently, a medical research team from the University of Minnesota announced that middle-aged business men who take regular exercise are on the whole no healthier than office workers who never give a thought to their physical condition.

The fact is that excess of exercise is as harmful to the human body as racing an engine is to an automobile. Even when muscle, exercise and deep breathing do develop the body, doctors are apt to say, "for what?"

Barrel chests and bulging biceps are no use to men who stand behind counters or perch on office stools all day. It is doubtful if men and women benefit from exercise. Or so it stated there.

So, if you are overwhelmed by that urge to roll 20 games, play 36 holes of golf or climb the nearest Catskill mountain peak, relax and sleep it off. You may be a better man for it tomorrow.

Contests Are Settled

Boston, Oct. 10 (AP)—Two contests of the $94,000,000 will of Mrs. Matthew Astor Wilks, daughter of the fabulous Hetty Green, have been virtually settled by agreement, Lee M. Friedman, president of the trustees of the Boston Public Library, reported today. The library expects to receive $600,000 as a residuary legatee. Friedman, back from a conference of beneficiaries and their counsel in New York, said the claims of a New York cousin of Mrs. Wilks and of the Girl Scouts of America were satisfied by agreement.

The British surrender ending the American Revolution was signed at Yorktown, Va., in the home of Augustine Moore.

McDougald, Ugly Duckling, Amuses Everyone but the Giants; Brilliant Yankee Rookie Hit Grand Slam Homer for His Ma and Pa

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—"He's the lousiest looking ball player in the world, but he's splendid."

"He doesn't look like a ball player at the plate, in the field, or on the bases, but he produces everywhere."

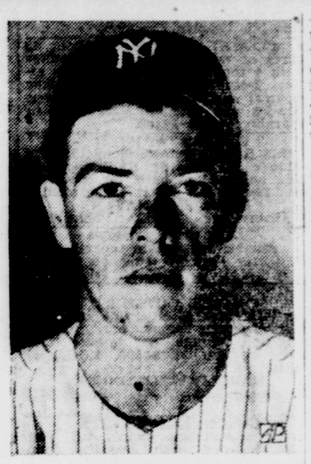
Thus did Manager Casey Stengel describe Gil McDougald, 22-year-old infield star of the Yankees, whose grand slam home run yesterday was the key blow in the defending world champion's 13-1 romp over the Giants in the fifth game of the all-New York World Series.

"Everything he does looks wrong, but it comes out right," said Stengel "he bats funny but he hits like heck. He's got a peculiar way of throwing but his arm is strong and accurate. He runs like a pacer but he is fast and knows how to run the bases. He's only a rookie but he's done as much for me as any of my veterans."

A goodly number of persons in the huge crowd that watched the Yankees grab a three-to-one game lead snickered when McDougald assumed his odd stance at the plate.

Results Aren't Funny

Those who had never seen him before gaped when young Gil got in position, his left toe pointing straight toward the mound, his body leaning halfway over the plate, his rear stuck out like the back bumper of a car, and his bat held at a 90 degree angle from his body.



GIL McDOUGALD

Even Manager Leo Durocher of the Giants couldn't have thought too much of the kid since he ordered Larry Jansen to hand an intentional base-filling pass to Johnny Mize to get at this snub-nosed, freckle-faced redhead. That was in the third inning.

McDougald calmly watched a couple of pitches sail over the plate, then lashed his bat at a high fast ball and rapped it into the upper left field stands for a thrill-of-a-lifetime grand slam home run. It was only the third of its kind in a World Series. Elmer Smith of the 1920 Clevelanders and Tony Lazzeri of the '36 Yankees were the only others to do it.

That was the ball game. The blow snapped a 1-1 tie and blew the game wide open. Southpaw Eddie Lopat was home free from then on. The rest of the battering was just icing on the cake.

Oddly enough, this titanic feat did not give Gil his biggest thrill in baseball.

"I got more of a kick out of the first one," he said. "That was against the Browns in St. Louis. I knew I hit the ball good today—I was trying to pull it to left field—but I didn't realize it was a homer until I was on my way to second base. I looked up and I saw that Irvin wasn't going to catch the ball. Then I knew it was in the seats."

One Against Browns

It was on May 3 that he got his first jackpot blow in St. Louis. That was in the ninth inning when the Yankees set an American League record by scoring 11 runs. Mac drove in six of them to tie a league mark. He tripled with two on before hitting his bases-loaded clout.

McDougald, a top candidate for the rookie-of-the-year award, is a two-way regular. He is the second baseman when the opposition pitches a righthander, and is the third baseman when the Yanks face a southpaw. That is because third sacker Bobby Brown plays only against righthanders and second baseman Gerry Coleman performs only when a lefthander is on the mound.

Somebody asked McDougald whether he was nervous playing in a World Series in his first year in the big leagues.

"Heck, no," he replied. "I was a little nervous in the first game. But that wore off."

"You see," he added, "I had to hit one. My Ma and Pa were in the stands and only yesterday Dad asked me, 'when are you going to hit me one, boy'?"

Draft Board Resigns

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 10 (AP)—A three-man local draft board has resigned in protest of a national Selective Service policy of inducting childless married men while deferring college students. The board quit yesterday, labeling the order as "discriminatory and one which we would not subscribe to." The board also criticized the Kentucky Draft Appeal Board's recent refusal to uphold the board when it rejected the deferment of 18 college students.

Russian TV Only Words

Budapest (AP)—Latest Russian "discovery" is the art of mass production of TV sets. The newspaper Szabad Nep declares also that Russian-made TV sets are far superior to those of the West, giving "a clear, sharp and perfect picture." However, Hungarians have to be content with the "promise" that TV will arrive in "the near future."

The speedometer is more than 100 years old. It was devised by Isaiah Lukens, of Philadelphia.

Middlecoff Captures Kansas City Open; Mangrum Top Money Winner, $25,838

Kansas City, Oct. 10 (AP)—Cary Middlecoff nabbed the Kansas City Open title to wind up the PGA's summer golf tournament tour as the nation's No. 2 money winner.

The tall Tennessee dentist was four strokes under par in beating Dave Douglas of Newark, Del., and Doug Ford of Harrison, N. Y., by four strokes in an 18-hole playoff in the $15,000 Kansas City Open yesterday.

Middlecoff shot at 68. Douglas and Ford each had 72s over the hard Milburn Country Club course.

The victory, Middlecoff's sixth major success of the year, was good for $2,400 and boosted his year's earnings to $24,075.91, second only to Lloyd Mangrum who has made $25,838.83.

Middlecoff led Ford by two strokes and Douglas by four after shooting a front nine 33, three under par. But he had to beat off a strong rally by both opponents before winning.

Had Douglas been able to sink his putts he could have emerged the winner. Douglas missed four-footers on the 13th and 18th. Had he sank them he would have been even with Middlecoff.

Ford knocked in a two-foot putt after blasting from a sand trap for a birdie 4 on the eighteenth that gained him a tie with Douglas.

Hooker Scores 36 In Y League

Leroy Hooker racked up 36 points as Koenig's Insurance ran riot over the "50" Club, 93-54, last night in the Y Autumn Basketball League, but Jones Dairy barely squeezed by the Sixth Ward's four-man lineup in the closing seconds, 58 to 57.

Trailing 37-43 at the three quarter mark, the speedy Sixth Ward cagers managed to tie the count at 55-55 with 72 seconds remaining. En route they lost three men on personal fouls and were forced to play the last two minutes with four men.

Although a player under the regulation quota, the Sixth Ward forged ahead 57-55 on Dave Lindsay's one-hander from outside the foul line. But the pressure exerted by superior numbers forced the Wardmen into a succession of fouls and Joe Norton, Don Hobart and Don Schrader sank one each in the last 35 seconds to nail down the Jones Dairy triumph.

Paul Scott dumped 20 points to lead the losers, while Charlie Marable and Doug Lindsay had 13 and 11 respectively. Smith's 15 topped the Dairymen, with Hobart and Schrader hitting for 10 each.

Hooker racked up his 36 markers for Koenig's with 16 fields and four singletons. "Yip" Koenig and Pete Camp had 16 each; Bucky Bower 15 and Nick Madison 10 as every member of the Koenig squad hit in double figures.

Tierney Forgets Sad Sack Giants For the Nonce and Whacks 621 Triple

Are the New York Giant fans convinced that Durocher's Dandies have run out of miracles and resigned themselves to the inevitable in this dreamy 1951 world series?

Or was it because this most faithful of species is burning mad over the 13-1 humiliation Gil McDougald and the Yankees heaped upon them Tuesday that Bob Tierney took it out on the harmless tenpins in the Booster League last night at the Bowlodrome.

Nobody can ever tell for sure whether Tierney clicked for his sensational 621 because he was so utterly relaxed and convinced that there was no longer any hope for the Giants.

Or maybe it was because he was steaming mad and each of the tenpins represented a Yankee ball player and Manager Casey.

A 621 series in the Booster League is a heap of bowling and the 193-218-210 blast might have been the highest in Tierney's long and distinguished career in the league known as the "cradle of bowling."

Tierney proved that not only is he a capable bowler but a man of stout courage. Instead of folding under the impact of the crushing Giant debacle and rushing for nearby bistros as many of them did last night, the most fanatic of all of John McGraw's disciples rose to the greatest heights of his bowling career.

In his greatest moment of despair, Tierney discovered that this game of baseball and the world series isn't the most important thing in the world after all. A nice 621 series in the Booster League has its well merited niche in life, too.

Eleanor Singer High

While Tierney was creating a sensation in the Booster League, Eleanor Singer took over high scoring honors in the distaff department with the lone "500" in the Friendship League. She powered 158-178-190.

Harold Elsbree was top man in the Chalet Leaders League in Rosendale with 157-202-171-530. Bob Herzog, the golfing wizard, reeled off 201-172-199-572 in the Central Rec League; Orville "Pop" Van Alstyne bashed 206-182-147-535 in the Silver Palace.

Other league leaders included Dct Donnaruma with 143-144-133-420 in the Hercules Women; E. Safford 148-172-183-503 in the Y International Federation and H. Ferguson 193-157-177 in the Federation National.

Two Near Misses

Vivian Slover and M. Williams near-missed in the Friendship with 499s. Phyl Gehringer posted 492; Bertha Schaller 490; Frances Hogan and Helen Webber 488 and Evelyn Dolson 480.

Runnerup to Tierney in the Booster was Sam Avnet with 202-565. John Howard hit for 204-549; Pete Kowalenko 507 and Jim Ryan 501. George Planthaber had 493; Ken Hornbeck 477 and R. Goldstein 200-470.

Other "500" shooters in the Chalet Leaders were Carlton Beach 527; C. Buddenhagen 519; W. Lawrence 511 and H. Houska 507. B. Esposito shot 499 and Leo Yonetti 482.

R. Lawrence rolled 211-565; Floyd Crantek 548; John Greco 547; Frank Grimaldi 540; Len Stauble 539; R. Zeeh 200-538; Ed Heins 535 and Carl Lundquist 209-529 in the Central Rec.

Howard Minard grabbed second place in the Federation National with 515. Ed Kittle posted 499; B. Hyatt 482 and W. Wood 481. In the International, A. Featherson was second with 490. G. Boice and Paul Stevenson shot 487 each and J. Wolven clicked 483.

Louise Jordan's 419 was only one pin off the Hercules Women pace, with Flo Maley hitting 409; Marge Burger 407; and Helen Buchholtz 406. Jack Martin and Willie Winslow (202) tosses 522s in the Silver Palace. Larry Peterson cracked 516; Lou Bruhn, E. Smedes and Joe Mannello, 515; and Ralph Mayone 513.

Moose Arranging For Gifts, Show At Castle Point

Sunday, Nov. 4, will be Kingston Day at Castle Point veterans' hospital through the courtesy of Kingston Lodge, 970, Loyal Order of Moose.

Announcement of this was made today by Anthony J. Erena, secretary of the club, who said the Moose would arrange entertainment for the patients and bring gifts to them.

"We realize that many desire to contribute gifts whenever an organization goes to visit the veterans," Erena said, "and the Moose will be pleased to take any packages to the hospital."

For the convenience of donors, Erena said, boxes will be placed in local stores where they may deposit gifts.

He specified the following places of business: Montgomery Ward, Cerasaro Brothers, J. C. Penney, William O'Reilly's, Tommy Maines shop, Otto's, L. Alcon's, A&P on Central Broadway, Chamber of Commerce, Junior Deb Shoppe and Greenkill Restaurant.

The deadline for contributing is October 31, so the Moose will have time to pick up the gift boxes.

"I am sure that all our patients will be truly grateful when we inform them of the proposed visit," an official of the hospital wrote Erena and suggested a list of suitable gifts: Cigarettes, cigars, tobacco, razor blades, stationery, stamps and any of the usual toilet articles used by men.

Erena said that plans on the show for the veterans would be announced as soon as all of the entertainers had been procured.

County Trapshoot Set for Sunday

The annual Ulster county trapshoot and field day sponsored by the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster county, washed out by heavy rains last Sunday, will be staged this Sunday, Oct. 14, on the grounds of the New Paltz Rod and Gun Club.

Last Sunday's cancellation came as a heavy blow to the New Paltz Gun Club committees who had worked diligently for several weeks to insure the finest conditions possible for the trapshoot.

The steady rain created several mechanical difficulties with the traps and three had been rendered completely useless when the committee decided to postpone the event.

New traps have been installed for Sunday's shoot and the Federation expects a record turnout.

SPORTSMAN'S DIGEST

By Hal Sharp

ARE GUN LUBRICANTS NECESSARY.....?

NO LUBRICANT MAY BE NECESSARY IN THE WINTER FOR THE AVERAGE USER. IN FACT, IN VERY COLD WEATHER OILS STIFFEN AND SLOW DOWN THE GUN'S ACTION. IN SUCH CASES, IT IS BETTER WITHOUT ANY OIL.

SUMMERTIME LUBRICANTS MAY BE SATISFACTORY IF DIRT IS NO PROBLEM, BUT HERE AGAIN IT IS NOT NECESSARY FOR THE AVERAGE USER.

IT IS ADVISABLE AFTER CLEANING TO LIGHTLY OIL THE OUTER SURFACES TO PROTECT AGAINST RUST, HANDLING, ETC., OR WHEN IT IS STORED IN GREASE AT THE END OF THE SEASON.

SILICONE OR GRAPHITE MAY BE USED IF YOUR GUN OIL IS STIFF.

Huben Re-elected By Sports Council

At the annual meeting of the New York State Winter Sports Council held in Albany Saturday, E. M. Huben executive director of the Ulster-Greene Counties Vacationland association, was re-elected first vice-president.

Other officers elected were H. L. Garren, Field House, RPI, Troy, president; Arthur Draper, Belleayre Ski Center, secretary; Joseph Horan, Department of Commerce at Albany, executive secretary; and William DeWolfe, Burby Hollow Ski Club, treasurer.

The two most important features of this year's conference were the inauguration of plans for All Expense Package trips to the ski centers and the process of making snow for the ski hills by high pressure sprays. Both of these features will be explored thoroughly as a means of increasing business this year for the ski centers.

River Projects Are Announced by Army

One announcement said that the federal lock at Troy will be closed to navigation between the hours of 7 a. m. and 5:30 p. m. on Wednesday, Oct. 17, in order to permit the placing of two 12-inch gas mains across the channel at the south entrance to the lock.

The other said that it is planned to start dredging operations on or about October 15 in the river in the east half of the channel at the mouth of the Poestenkill creek, about 3,200 feet south of the Congress street bridge, Troy, by government clamshell dredge with attendant tugs and scows.

Schedule calls for the dredge to work on the area five days a week, Monday through Friday, during daylight hours only, and it will be moored on or near the area nights, Saturdays and Sundays.

As Pegler Sees It

our candidate? The Washington Post is Felix Frankfurter's mouthpiece. It apologized for Alger Hiss and minimized his treachery and the editor of the paper was Weenie's secretary. So was Hiss. So it doesn't seem likely that, in nominating Ike on our ticket, the Post would be guilty of handing us a winner.

China-boy Luce is a vermiform political phenomenon. Howard Rushmore, the reformed Communist who now fights them with furious force, reports that there was a Communist cell composed of editorial employees of one of China-boy's pidgin periodicals. In 1940, Willkie was China-boy's entry and a colorless, insignificant jelly, named Davenport, floated in to the situation from China-boy's layout to manage the Willkie campaign.

Taft is the one man in our politics who would surely take after Truman and bat his brains out. He knows every trick in the twirp's repertoire from old experience in the Senate. He will make Truman make such a disgusting spectacle of himself that the citizens will realize that for the first time in 20 years they have a chance to vote for an honest man, a decent man, a gentleman.

Fight? Taft? Ask the crooks and Communists of the Union racket how he fought in Ohio last time. They got rough and he spread his feet and ripped their guts out. He murdered them.

Truman wants Ike. All the crooks and Communists want to give us Ike. They know Taft will pull their bum's arms and legs out and bat his ears off with the bloody stumps.

Westfall's Car Found on Lucas Avenue Extension

The car of George Westfall, 98 Murray street, reported stolen between Monday night and yesterday morning, was located on Lucas avenue extension yesterday afternoon.

A police report at 4 p. m., said that Westfall's mother had received a call from the resident of Lucas avenue extension saying that the Westfall car was blocking a driveway.

Officers George Dougherty and Meyer Levy investigated and said Westfall told them that a piece of wire had been inserted into the ignition switch, the battery was dead and the car was out of gas.

Hooker Scores 36 In Y League

Leroy Hooker racked up 36 points as Koenig's Insurance ran riot over the "50" Club, 93-54, last night in the Y Autumn Basketball League, but Jones Dairy barely squeezed by the Sixth Ward's four-man lineup in the closing seconds, 58 to 57.

Trailing 37-43 at the three quarter mark, the speedy Sixth Ward cagers managed to tie the count at 55-55 with 72 seconds remaining. En route they lost three men on personal fouls and were forced to play the last two minutes with four men.

Although a player under the regulation quota, the Sixth Ward forged ahead 57-55 on Dave Lindsay's one-hander from outside the foul line. But the pressure exerted by superior numbers forced the Wardmen into a succession of fouls and Joe Norton, Don Hobart and Don Schrader sank one each in the last 35 seconds to nail down the Jones Dairy triumph.

Paul Scott dumped 20 points to lead the losers, while Charlie Marable and Doug Lindsay had 13 and 11 respectively. Smith's 15 topped the Dairymen, with Hobart and Schrader hitting for 10 each.

Hooker racked up his 36 markers for Koenig's with 16 fields and four singletons. "Yip" Koenig and Pete Camp had 16 each; Bucky Bower 15 and Nick Madison 10 as every member of the Koenig squad hit in double figures.

Tierney Forgets Sad Sack Giants For the Nonce and Whacks 621 Triple

Are the New York Giant fans convinced that Durocher's Dandies have run out of miracles and resigned themselves to the inevitable in this dreamy 1951 world series?

Or was it because this most faithful of species is burning mad over the 13-1 humiliation Gil McDougald and the Yankees heaped upon them Tuesday that Bob Tierney took it out on the harmless tenpins in the Booster League last night at the Bowlodrome.

Nobody can ever tell for sure whether Tierney clicked for his sensational 621 because he was so utterly relaxed and convinced that there was no longer any hope for the Giants.

Or maybe it was because he was steaming mad and each of the tenpins represented a Yankee ball player and Manager Casey.

A 621 series in the Booster League is a heap of bowling and the 193-218-210 blast might have been the highest in Tierney's long and distinguished career in the league known as the "cradle of bowling."

Tierney proved that not only is he a capable bowler but a man of stout courage. Instead of folding under the impact of the crushing Giant debacle and rushing for nearby bistros as many of them did last night, the most fanatic of all of John McGraw's disciples rose to the greatest heights of his bowling career.

In his greatest moment of despair, Tierney discovered that this game of baseball and the world series isn't the most important thing in the world after all. A nice 621 series in the Booster League has its well merited niche in life, too.

Eleanor Singer High

While Tierney was creating a sensation in the Booster League, Eleanor Singer took over high scoring honors in the distaff department with the lone "500" in the Friendship League. She powered 158-178-190.

Harold Elsbree was top man in the Chalet Leaders League in Rosendale with 157-202-171-530. Bob Herzog, the golfing wizard, reeled off 201-172-199-572 in the Central Rec League; Orville "Pop" Van Alstyne bashed 206-182-147-535 in the Silver Palace.

Other league leaders included Dot Donnaruma with 143-144-133-420 in the Hercules Women; E. Safford 148-172-183-503 in the Y International Federation and H. Ferguson 193-157-177 in the Federation National.

Two Near Misses

Vivian Slover and M. Williams near-missed in the Friendship with 499s. Phyl Gehringer posted 492; Bertha Schaller 490; Frances Hogan and Helen Webber 488 and Evelyn Dolson 480.

Runnerup to Tierney in the Booster was Sam Avnet with 202-565. John Howard hit for 204-549; Pete Kowalenko 507 and Jim Ryan 501. George Planthaber had 493; Ken Hornbeck 477 and R. Goldstein 200-470.

Other "500" shooters in the Chalet Leaders were Carlton Beach 527; C. Buddenhagen 519; W. Lawrence 511 and H. Houska 507. B. Esposito shot 499 and Leo Yonetti 482.

R. Lawrence rolled 211-565; Floyd Crantek 548; John Greco 547; Frank Grimaldi 540; Len Stauble 539; R. Zeeh 200-538; Ed Heins 535 and Carl Lundquist 209-529 in the Central Rec.

Howard Minard grabbed second place in the Federation National with 515. Ed Kittle posted 499; B. Hyatt 482 and W. Wood 481. In the International, A. Featherson was second with 490. G. Boice and Paul Stevenson shot 487 each and J. Wolven clicked 483.

Louise Jordan's 419 was only one pin off the Hercules Women pace, with Flo Maley hitting 409; Marge Burger 407; and Helen Buchholtz 406. Jack Martin and Willie Winslow (202) tosses 522s in the Silver Palace. Larry Peterson cracked 516; Lou Bruhn, E. Smedes and Joe Mannello, 515; and Ralph Mayone 513.

Moose Arranging For Gifts, Show At Castle Point

Sunday, Nov. 4, will be Kingston Day at Castle Point veterans' hospital through the courtesy of Kingston Lodge, 970, Loyal Order of Moose.

Announcement of this was made today by Anthony J. Erena, secretary of the club, who said the Moose would arrange entertainment for the patients and bring gifts to them.

"We realize that many desire to contribute gifts whenever an organization goes to visit the veterans," Erena said, "and the Moose will be pleased to take any packages to the hospital."

For the convenience of donors, Erena said, boxes will be placed in local stores where they may deposit gifts.

He specified the following places of business: Montgomery Ward, Cerasaro Brothers, J. C. Penney, William O'Reilly's, Tommy Maines shop, Otto's, L. Alcon's, A&P on Central Broadway, Chamber of Commerce, Junior Deb Shoppe and Greenkill Restaurant.

The deadline for contributing is October 31, so the Moose will have time to pick up the gift boxes.

"I am sure that all our patients will be truly grateful when we inform them of the proposed visit," an official of the hospital wrote Erena and suggested a list of suitable gifts: Cigarettes, cigars, tobacco, razor blades, stationery, stamps and any of the usual toilet articles used by men.

Erena said that plans on the show for the veterans would be announced as soon as all of the entertainers had been procured.

River Projects Are Announced by Army

Announcements have been made by the Department of the Army, Corps of Engineers, relative to projects on the Hudson river, affecting navigation.

One announcement said that the federal lock at Troy will be closed to navigation between the hours of 7 a. m. and 5:30 p. m. on Wednesday, Oct. 17, in order to permit the placing of two 12-inch gas mains across the channel at the south entrance to the lock.

The other said that it is planned to start dredging operations on or about October 15 in the river in the east half of the channel at the mouth of the Poestenkill creek, about 3,200 feet south of the Congress street bridge, Troy, by government clamshell dredge with attendant tugs and scows.

Schedule calls for the dredge to work on the area five days a week, Monday through Friday, during daylight hours only, and it will be moored on or near the area nights, Saturdays and Sundays.

County Trapshoot Set for Sunday

The annual Ulster county trapshoot and field day sponsored by the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster county, washed out by heavy rains last Sunday, will be staged this Sunday, Oct. 14, on the grounds of the New Paltz Rod and Gun Club.

Last Sunday's cancellation came as a heavy blow to the New Paltz Gun Club committees who had worked diligently for several weeks to insure the finest conditions possible for the trapshoot.

The steady rain created several mechanical difficulties with the traps and three had been rendered completely useless when the committee decided to postpone the event.

New traps have been installed for Sunday's shoot and the Federation expects a record turnout.

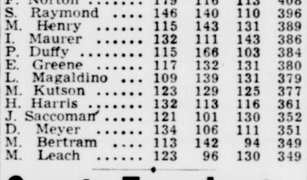
ARE GUN LUBRICANTS NECESSARY.....?



NO LUBRICANT MAY BE NECESSARY IN THE WINTER FOR THE AVERAGE USER. IN FACT, IN VERY COLD WEATHER OILS STIFFEN AND SLOW DOWN THE GUN'S ACTION. IN SUCH CASES, IT IS BETTER WITHOUT ANY OIL.

SUMMERTIME LUBRICANTS MAY BE SATISFACTORY IF DIRT IS NO PROBLEM, BUT HERE AGAIN IT IS NOT NECESSARY FOR THE AVERAGE USER.

IT IS ADVISABLE AFTER CLEANING TO LIGHTLY OIL THE OUTER SURFACES TO PROTECT AGAINST RUST, HANDLING, ETC., OR WHEN IT IS STORED IN GREASE AT THE END OF THE SEASON.

SILICONE OR GRAPHITE MAY BE USED IF YOUR GUN OIL IS STIFF.

Huben Re-elected By Sports Council

At the annual meeting of the New York State Winter Sports Council held in Albany Saturday, E. M. Huben executive director of the Ulster-Greene Counties Vacationland association, was re-elected first vice-president.

Other officers elected were H. L. Garren, Field House, RPI, Troy, president; Arthur Draper, Belleayre Ski Center, secretary; Joseph Horan, Department of Commerce at Albany, executive secretary; and William DeWolfe, Burby Hollow Ski Club, treasurer.

The two most important features of this year's conference were the inauguration of plans for All Expense Package trips to the ski centers and the process of making snow for the ski hills by high pressure sprays. Both of these features will be explored thoroughly as a means of increasing business this year for the ski centers.

As Pegler Sees It

our candidate? The Washington Post is Felix Frankfurter's mouthpiece. It apologized for Alger Hiss and minimized his treachery and the editor of the paper was Weenie's secretary. So was Hiss. So it doesn't seem likely that, in nominating Ike on our ticket, the Post would be guilty of handing us a winner.

China-boy Luce is a vermiform political phenomenon. Howard Rushmore, the reformed Communist who now fights them with furious force, reports that there was a Communist cell composed of editorial employees of one of China-boy's pidgin periodicals. In 1940, Willkie was China-boy's entry and a colorless, insignificant jelly, named Davenport, floated in to the situation from China-boy's layout to manage the Willkie campaign.

So why should we Republicans accept advice from fui-piu?

Taft is the one man in our politics who would surely take after Truman and bat his brains out. He knows every trick in the twirp's repertoire from old experience in the Senate. He will make Truman make such a disgusting spectacle of himself that the citizens will realize that for the first time in 20 years they have a chance to vote for an honest man, a decent man, a gentleman.

Fight? Taft? Ask the crooks and Communists of the Union racket how he fought in Ohio last time. They got rough and he spread his feet and ripped their guts out. He murdered them.

Truman wants Ike. All the crooks and Communists want to give us Ike. They know Taft will pull their bum's arms and legs out and bat his ears off with the bloody stumps.

Westfall's Car Found on Lucas Avenue Extension

The car of George Westfall, 98 Murray street, reported stolen between Monday night and yesterday morning, was located on Lucas avenue extension yesterday afternoon.

A police report at 4 p. m., said that Westfall's mother had received a call from the resident of Lucas avenue extension saying that the Westfall car was blocking a driveway.

Officers George Dougherty and Meyer Levy investigated and said Westfall told them that a piece of wire had been inserted into the ignition switch, the battery was dead and the car was out of gas.

The National Geographic Society says many of the Portuguese who settled in New England fishing cities came from the Azores.

Nominations Are Killed

Washington, Oct. 10 (AP)—The Senate yesterday knocked in the head two Illinois judicial nominations made by President Truman without agreement of Senator Douglas, Illinois Democart. The appointments had previously been pigeonholed in committee. They were rejected by voice vote, with no voice of approval heard.

Promise Support To Carpenters on Labor Amendment

Senator Irving M. Ives has written George E. Yerry, Jr., president and general agent of the Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters, A. F. of L., stating that he will be "very glad to cooperate in efforts to rectify a serious situation which Senate bill S. 1973 aims to correct." The letter was written in reply to a communication sent to Senator Ives and Senator Lehman asking their support in having this amendment adopted. The amendment relates to building trades and the building trades unions.

A reply was received from Senator Lehman in which he states he has not had an opportunity to study the details of the bill but that he will give it "my most sympathetic consideration when it is reported to the full Labor and Public Welfare Committee" of which he is a member.

On August 9, 1951, Senate Bill S1973 was introduced amending the Taft-Hartley Law to authorize the building and construction industry to grant a union shop agreement to their employes and to exempt such employes from the representation and union shop election provisions of the Taft-Hartley Law.

The Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters later communicated with Senator Ives and Lehman asking their support in having this amendment adopted. In reply to the communication of Yerry, both have assured the District Council of their support.

Officers Pick . . .

They mapped an open air site near the bridge. The choice of liaison officers is a recommendation which must be approved by higher echelons of both commands.

Eight Miles by Road

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, head of the UN command delegation, and Maj. Gen. Lawrence C. Craigie flew back to Munsan Wednesday from Tokyo. The other three UN delegates already were in Korea. They are Rear Adm. Arleigh Burke, Maj. Gen. Henry I. Hodes, and South Korean Maj. Gen. Paik Sun Yup.

If and when they meet with the Chinese and North Korean delegation again they still have to settle the first major question of the armistice—where to establish a military demarcation line across Korea for the cease-fire. The Reds have been insisting on the 38th Parallel, old political boundary between North and South Korea.

The UN command has been equally insistant on a line in the area of present battle lines. These have been pushed 15 miles farther north of 38 in spots since Reds broke off the talks.

Dog Bites Twice

Lee Herrington, 288 Elmendorf street, who delivers papers for the Home Delivery Service, informed police at 9:25 p. m., yesterday that he had been bitten twice by the same dog on Greenkill avenue near Washington avenue. The dog is "very vicious," he reported.

Gus Hall Is Turned

Green to five. Hall was sentenced to five years.

The three fugitives and Hall were out on $80,000 bail. The bail was posted by the Civil Rights Congress (CRC) which lost its $80,000 on the deal.

Since then, a New York federal judge has banned the CRC's bail fund from acting as bondsman in any case in a New York Federal District Court.

There was immediate speculation last July that the four American Communists might skip the country. All had been to Russia at one time or another.

Slipped Across Border

The U. S. Supreme Court only last Monday refused to reconsider its decision against the 11 top Reds. That decision, upholding the convictions and the constitutionality of the Smith Act, came last June.

The husky Hall, like the other three fugitives, is American-born but Moscow-trained.

When the quartet fled, there were rumors that the fugitives had returned to Russia or had gone underground to form a secret politburo, or headquarters. All are relatively young and considered energetic.

Four other Communists, members of the party's "second-team" leadership, are fugitives from an indictment charging them and 17 others with conspiracy to teach and advocate violent revolution.

15 Men Inducted By County Board

Local Draft Board 19 (county) inducted 15 men into the armed forces on October 2, sending three Kingston selectees to the U. S. Marine Corps, and 15 from rural areas to the U. S. Army.

Those inducted were:

Marines—Albert G. Baltz, 70 Clinton avenue; Donald V. Eigo, 62 German street and Anthony C. DeMicco, 334 Broadway.

Army—Frederick Van Nostrand and Jack Giamportone, Highland; Earl S. Hornbeck, New Paltz; Richard W. Minadeo, Milton; Joseph Riccio, Box 369, Route 3, Saugerties; Ward E. Grant, Box 92, Chichester; Albert Haener, 18 Canal street, Ellenville; Ralph H. Simmons, Jr., Malden-on-Hudson; Robert G. Winchell, Bayard street, Port Ewen; Anthony D. Secreto, Box 104, Glasco; Herbert B. Dickinson, Central avenue, Wallkill and Domenico E. Salvucci, West Hurley.

German Importation

Both the hamburger and the frankfurter, now considered typically American, are imports from Germany, says the National Geographic Society.

By HERMAN J. EATON

QUESTION: I am a teacher and I have read recently of several large law suits brought against teachers because of injuries to students in the course of their instruction. Is there any form of insurance which protects the teacher in such cases?

ANSWER: Yes, there is a special Teacher's Liability policy which gives just that kind of protection.

•If you'll address your own insurance questions to this office we'll try to give you the correct answers and there will be NO CHARGE OR OBLIGATION OF ANY KIND.

Promise Support To Carpenters on Labor Amendment

Senator Irving M. Ives has written George E. Yerry, Jr., president and general agent of the Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters, A. F. of L., stating that he will be "very glad to cooperate in efforts to rectify a serious situation which Senate bill S. 1973 aims to correct." The letter was written in reply to a communication sent to Senator Ives and Senator Lehman asking their support in having this amendment adopted. The amendment relates to building trades and the building trades unions.

A reply was received from Senator Lehman in which he states he has not had an opportunity to study the details of the bill but that he will give it "my most sympathetic consideration when it is reported to the full Labor and Public Welfare Committee" of which he is a member.

On August 9, 1951, Senate Bill S1973 was introduced amending the Taft-Hartley Law to authorize the building and construction industry to grant a union shop agreement to their employes and to exempt such employes from the representation and union shop election provisions of the Taft-Hartley Law.

The Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters later communicated with Senator Ives and Lehman asking their support in having this amendment adopted. In reply to the communication of Yerry, both have assured the District Council of their support.

Officers Pick . . .

They mapped an open air site near the bridge. The choice of liaison officers is a recommendation which must be approved by higher echelons of both commands.

Eight Miles by Road

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, head of the UN command delegation, and Maj. Gen. Lawrence C. Craigie flew back to Munsan Wednesday from Tokyo. The other three UN delegates already were in Korea. They are Rear Adm. Arleigh Burke, Maj. Gen. Henry I. Hodes, and South Korean Maj. Gen. Paik Sun Yup.

If and when they meet with the Chinese and North Korean delegation again they still have to settle the first major question of the armistice—where to establish a military demarcation line across Korea for the cease-fire. The Reds have been insisting on the 38th Parallel, old political boundary between North and South Korea.

The UN command has been equally insistant on a line in the area of present battle lines. These have been pushed 15 miles farther north of 38 in spots since Reds broke off the talks.

Dog Bites Twice

Lee Herrington, 288 Elmendorf street, who delivers papers for the Home Delivery Service, informed police at 9:25 p. m., yesterday that he had been bitten twice by the same dog on Greenkill avenue near Washington avenue. The dog is "very vicious," he reported.

Gus Hall Is Turned

Green to five. Hall was sentenced to five years.

The three fugitives and Hall were out on $80,000 bail. The bail was posted by the Civil Rights Congress (CRC) which lost its $80,000 on the deal.

Since then, a New York federal judge has banned the CRC's bail fund from acting as bondsman in any case in a New York Federal District Court.

There was immediate speculation last July that the four American Communists might skip the country. All had been to Russia at one time or another.

Slipped Across Border

The U. S. Supreme Court only last Monday refused to reconsider its decision against the 11 top Reds. That decision, upholding the convictions and the constitutionality of the Smith Act, came last June.

The husky Hall, like the other three fugitives, is American-born but Moscow-trained.

Hall was the party's Ohio state chairman before becoming national secretary.

When the quartet fled, there were rumors that the fugitives had returned to Russia or had gone underground to form a secret politburo, or headquarters. All are relatively young and considered energetic.

Four other Communists, members of the party's "second-team" leadership, are fugitives from an indictment charging them and 17 others with conspiracy to teach and advocate violent revolution.

15 Men Inducted By County Board

Local Draft Board 19 (county) inducted 15 men into the armed forces on October 2, sending three Kingston selectees to the U. S. Marine Corps, and 15 from rural areas to the U. S. Army.

Those inducted were:

Marines—Albert G. Baltz, 70 Clinton avenue; Donald V. Eigo, 62 German street and Anthony C. DeMicco, 334 Broadway.

Army—Frederick Van Nostrand and Jack Giamportone, Highland; Earl S. Hornbeck, New Paltz; Richard W. Minadeo, Milton; Joseph Riccio, Box 369, Route 3, Saugerties; Ward E. Grant, Box 92, Chichester; Albert Haener, 18 Canal street, Ellenville; Ralph H. Simmons, Jr., Malden-on-Hudson; Robert G. Winchell, Bayard street, Port Ewen; Anthony D. Secreto, Box 104, Glasco; Herbert B. Dickinson, Central avenue, Wallkill and Domenico E. Salvucci, West Hurley.
